

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

DIRECTORY OF
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
LAWYER REPRESENTATIVES TO THE
NINTH CIRCUIT JUDICIAL CONFERENCE

2013-2014

To the Central District of California Ninth Circuit Judicial Conference Lawyer Representatives:

Thank you for another year of service to the Central District of California. As chief judge, I appreciate your willingness to assist the court and look forward to working with you on additional projects.

Hopefully our budget funding has stabilized so that we can turn all of our resources, energy, and attention towards continuing improvements to lawyers, litigants, jurors, and members of the public. We have made significant strides in automating court processes, most recently in a pilot testing of civil case opening, and will be looking for other ways to streamline and update.

As lawyer representatives, your knowledge and understanding of the business of the court are key to our plans. We look forward to involving you in these preparations, and drawing up your contacts in the community and political arenas as we mobilize to meet our multiple challenges. This "Look Book" as it has come to be called, puts you in touch with your colleagues. Reach out to them and together let us know how we can be of service to each other.

I look forward to seeing you at our district conference in March.

Sincerely,

George H. King
Chief Judge, Central District of California

To All Attendees of the 2014 Central District Judicial Conference:

Welcome to Westwood! It has been a pleasure and privilege for us to Co–Chair this year’s Central District Judicial Conference, which we hope you find both thought provoking and enjoyable. We extend our thanks for Chief Judge George H. King, Judge David T. Bristow, Judge Patrick J. Walsh, and Judge Deborah J. Saltzman with whom we have worked with in planning the event. We extend our special thanks to Judge David O. Carter who worked tirelessly as the Chair of the Conference planning committee to make this special Conference happen. We would also like to thank Terry Nafisi, other involved staff of the Court, the Lawyer Representatives, and many others who have helped us in organizing the conference and weekend activities. Finally, we thank Dean Rachel Moran and the UCLA School of Law for inviting us to campus for this year’s Conference.

This year’s “Look Book” was prepared by Lawyer Representatives Victor de Gyarfaz and Amy Goldman, whose work we greatly appreciate. The directory is intended to give all attendees some information about the Lawyer Representatives. The Look Book illustrates the incredible diversity and talents of lawyers practicing in the Central District of California.

On behalf of the all the Lawyer Representatives, we would like to express our gratitude to the judges of the Central District of California for giving us the opportunity to participate in the Conference. We would also like thank the Judges and our fellow Lawyer Representatives for the opportunity to serve you as this year’s Co-Chairs.

Best regards,

Autumn Spaeth & Fred Rowley
2013-14 Lawyer Representative Co-Chairs

White, Andrew M.

Andrew White is the managing partner of Kelley Drye's Los Angeles office and chair of the Entertainment and Media practice group. Andy, in over 35 years as a trial lawyer, has won jury and non-jury trials in a wide array of complicated business disputes. The General Counsel of one Fortune 100 client has publicly endorsed Andy as "a trial lawyer who actually tries cases." Andy's trial skills and pre-trial strategies have won huge verdicts, as well as business-saving settlements, for some of America's most recognized companies and individuals. The late Johnnie Cochran, a former adversary in the courtroom, acknowledged Andy in a Daily Journal profile as "one of the few trial lawyers who can win big cases from both the plaintiff and defense sides of the counsel table."

Andy's courtroom victories range from protecting TV networks and film studios against copyright and trademark claims to winning 8-figure jury verdicts for real estate developers and a motion picture CEO; from prosecuting claims over multi-million dollar entertainment contracts to defending large corporations against treble-damage antitrust claims.

In addition to teaching civil procedure as an adjunct instructor at Loyola Law School, Andy has been a guest lecturer on copyright and trademark law at his alma mater, Stanford Law School. He is also a frequent speaker before bar groups and continuing legal education seminars.
