William Cummings et al., By the Numbers: President Donald Trump’s Failed Efforts to Overturn the Election, USA Today (Jan. 6, 2021)14

INTRODUCTION

2 Of the 3,907 documents over which Plaintiff John Eastman initially asserted
3 privilege, 601 are currently before the Court. Each of Dr. Eastman’s remaining privilege 4 assertions within this population of documents fails for three reasons.

5 First, this Court has already rejected many of Dr. Eastman’s arguments. As this 6 Court already held, the crime-fraud exception uncloaks any privilege shield that may 7 otherwise exist for many of the contested documents. Dr. Eastman has reiterated his 8 debunked claims that the 2020 Presidential election was stolen. These claims were false 9 when Dr. Eastman and President Trump originally made them and they helped lead to 10 one of the most tragic episodes in this Nation’s history. As to his argument that the 11 subpoena issued by the Select Committee to Chapman University violates the First 12 Amendment, Dr. Eastman’s arguments fail for the same reasons they failed the prior 13 times Dr. Eastman raised this argument.

14 Second, Dr. Eastman has failed to meet his burden to establish entitlement to the 15 attorney-client privilege for the 162 documents over which he claims such privilege.
16 This Court directed Dr. Eastman to file “with the Court and the Select Committee 17 evidence of all attorney-client and agent relationships asserted in the privilege log” and to 18 “provide evidence documenting any attorney-client relationships that existed with his 19 clients.” Order Re. Briefing Sched. at 1, May 12, 2022, ECF 343. Absent such 20 contemporaneous written documentation, this Court ordered Dr. Eastman to provide “a 21 sworn statement from an attorney, client, or agent in each relationship attesting that 22 written documentation does not exist and specifying the timing and scope of the 23 relationship.” Id. at 2 (emphasis added). Dr. Eastman has failed to introduce a single 24 contemporaneous document reflecting any attorney-client or agency relationship.
25 Instead, he provides conclusory declarations (one unsigned) that nowhere attest that 26 “written documentation does not exist[,]” and fail to “confirm the timing and scope of 27 each attorney relationship and each agent relationship[.]” Id. at 1, 2. As to former 28

1 President Trump, many of the documents at issue include the same third parties that this 2 Court already concluded destroyed any privilege.

3 Third, Dr. Eastman is not entitled to work product protection for the 557 4 documents over which he claims it. As before, Dr. Eastman has failed to show that the 5 documents were prepared by a party, or a party's representative, in anticipation of 6 litigation. And, in any event, the Select Committee has a substantial need to obtain these 7 documents quickly.

8 BACKGROUND

9 This Court and Congressional Defendants have already described in detail the 10 tragic events of January 6, 2021, and Dr. Eastman and former President Trump's actions
11 leading up to and on that day. See Order Re. Privilege Docs. at 3-11, Mar. 28, 2022, ECF
12 260; Cong. Defs.' Br. Opp'n Pl's. Privilege Assertions at 3-6, Mar. 3, 2022, ECF 164-1; 13 Defs.' Mem. Opp'n Pl's. Emergency Mot. at 2-5, ECF 23-1. Congressional Defendants 14 rely on those descriptions here.

15 The Select Committee issued a subpoena to Dr. Eastman in furtherance of its duty 16 to investigate the facts, circumstances, and causes of the attack on January 6. Rather than 17 cooperate with the Select Committee, Dr. Eastman refused to produce any documents 18 responsive to that subpoena and repeatedly invoked his Fifth Amendment privilege 19 during his deposition. Dr. Eastman also filed suit in the District of Columbia asking that 20 court to invalidate a subpoena issued to Dr. Eastman's cell phone service provider 21 seeking non-content information. Not only has Dr. Eastman asked to be relieved from 22 any obligation to comply with the subpoena in that litigation, but he also asked that court
23 to declare the Select Committee itself void. See Compl. Prayer for Relief ¶¶ b-c, 24 Eastman v. Thompson et al., No. 21-cv-03273, ECF 1, (D.D.C. Dec. 14, 2021).

25 Because Dr. Eastman resisted the subpoena issued directly to him, the Select 26 Committee issued a subpoena to Dr. Eastman's former employer, Chapman University.
27 Letter from Chairman Bennie G. Thompson, Chair of the Select Comm. to Investigate the 28

1 January 6th Attack on the U.S. Capitol, to John Eastman (Nov. 8, 2021).¹ The day before 2 the subpoena’s deadline, Dr. Eastman initiated this action seeking to enjoin Chapman
3 from producing responsive records. At a hearing in January, the parties agreed that Dr.
4 Eastman would expeditiously produce a privilege log with particularized assertions of 5 privilege. The Court denied Dr. Eastman’s application to maintain a temporary 6 restraining order, rejected his First Amendment, Fourth Amendment, and Congressional 7 authority claims, and ordered Dr. Eastman to produce all non-privileged, responsive 8 documents to the Select Committee on a rolling basis. The Court also denied Dr.
9 Eastman’s blanket attorney-client privilege and work product protection claims with the 10 proviso that Dr. Eastman retained the right to raise these claims as to specific documents 11 during production. See Order Den. Pl’s. Mot. Prelim. Inj. at 2, Jan. 25, 2022, ECF 43.

12 Over the next four months, Dr. Eastman produced privilege logs broadly asserting 13 attorney-client and agency relationships but providing little detail about the nature of the 14 asserted privilege. This Court granted Congressional Defendants’ request for 15 prioritization of and briefing related to the privilege assertions on Dr. Eastman’s January 16 4-7 document logs and set a hearing to address these issues. See Order Setting Briefing
17 Sched. at 2, Feb. 14, 2022, ECF 104. Soon after the hearing, this Court issued an order 18 upholding Dr. Eastman’s privilege claims over certain documents while denying his 19 privilege claims over many other documents. See ECF 260 at 44. Consequently, the 20 parties revised their respective privilege claims and objections and now address the 601 21 documents over which Dr. Eastman maintains his assertions of privilege and that are 22 currently before the Court.

23 STANDARD OF REVIEW

24 “Evidentiary privileges in litigation” like those at issue here “are not favored.”
25 Herbert v. Lando, 441 U.S. 153, 175 (1979). The burden of proving that the attorney-26 client privilege or work product protection applies rests with the party asserting the 1 privilege. Weil v. Inv./Indicators, Rsch. & Mgmt., Inc., 647 F.2d 18, 25 (9th Cir. 1981).

2 “[A] party asserting the attorney-client privilege has the burden of establishing the 3 relationship and the privileged nature of the communication.” United States v. Ruehle, 4 583 F.3d 600, 607 (9th Cir. 2009) (internal quotation omitted). “Because it impedes full 5 and free discovery of the truth, the attorney-client privilege is strictly construed.” United 6 States v. Martin, 278 F.3d 988, 999 (9th Cir. 2002), as amended on denial of reh’g (Mar.
7 13, 2002) (internal quotation omitted).

8 ARGUMENT

9 Following this Court’s March 28 Order, and with the additional information the 10 Select Committee has learned in the months since Congressional Defendants filed their 11 brief regarding documents in the January 4 through 7 timeframe, it is evident that the 12 documents currently before the Court are extremely important to the Select Committee’s 13 work.

14 Because Congressional Defendants must challenge the privilege assertions without 15 seeing the documents, Congressional Defendants cannot respond to many of Dr.
16 Eastman’s representations about particular documents. Congressional Defendants, 17 moreover, were compelled to base their objections on Dr. Eastman’s vague and summary 18 representations in his privilege log. For the first time since he began producing privilege 19 logs, Dr. Eastman provides some detail about why he believes certain documents are 20 privileged. It is only in his current brief, five months into the privilege log process, that 21 Dr. Eastman links particular documents to particular cases. See Pl’s. Br. Supp. Privilege 22 Assertions at 20-23, May 19, 2022, ECF 345. This effort comes too late and does not 23 shield the documents at issue from the crime-fraud exception to any privilege claim.

24 This Court’s March 28 order already rejected many of the argument Dr. Eastman 25 makes now. This Court should reject Dr. Eastman’s effort to revisit them.² As to Dr.

26 ² This Court also concluded that Dr. Eastman’s unauthorized use of Chapman’s email 27 server did not destroy attorney-client privilege. See ECF 260 at 15-20. Because Dr.
28 Eastman’s renewed claims of privilege fail for the various reasons discussed below,

1 Eastman’s other arguments, he fails to meet his burden to establish either attorney client 2 privilege or work product protection.

3 I. This Court Has Already Rejected Many of Dr. Eastman’s Arguments

4 Rather than apply this Court’s Order addressing the January 4-7, 2021 documents, 5 Dr. Eastman asks this Court to reverse its prior decisions. There is no reason to do so.

6 A. The Crime-Fraud Exception Prevents Dr. Eastman from Shielding the 7 Contested Documents

8 For the same reasons the Court found the crime-fraud exception applicable to the 9 January 4-7 documents, it should review the remaining materials to determine whether 10 the legal advice reflected in them was used in furtherance of the former President’s 11 crimes.

12 As this Court has explained, communications in which a “client consults an 13 attorney for advice that will serve him in the commission of a fraud or crime” are not 14 privileged from disclosure. In re Grand Jury Investigation, 810 F.3d 1110, 1113 (9th 15 Cir. 2016) (internal quotations omitted); see ECF 260 at 30. This exception to the 16 attorney-client privilege applies where (1) “the client was engaged in or planning a

1 Dr. Eastman’s role in the effort to obstruct the counting of electoral votes and the 2 conspiracy to prevent the certification of President Biden’s electoral victory is, by now, 3 well-established. See, e.g., ECF 260 at 3-8. Two additional points bear emphasis. First,
4 the evidence shows that Dr. Eastman’s role extended well beyond the January 4-7 period.
5 Second, President Trump’s and Dr. Eastman’s criminal obstruction of the electoral count
6 was not merely limited to their efforts to pressure Vice President Pence in the days before 7 January 6th; rather, it was the culmination of a monthslong effort to corruptly subvert the 8 results of the 2020 election. Most prominently, new evidence produced by Dr. Eastman 9 illustrates his contemporaneous involvement with the submission of the fraudulent slates 10 of Trump electors that were the basis for his legal arguments regarding the vice president.

11 From the very outset, Dr. Eastman’s theory of Vice Presidential power was 12 predicated upon the existence of “competing” slates of electors. Indeed, as the Court 13 recognized in ordering one document from the January 4-7 period produced to the Select 14 Committee pursuant to the crime-fraud exception, a lawyer identified in Dr. Eastman’s 15 recent Declaration as an attorney on the “Trump legal team” suggested this “‘President of 16 the Senate’ strategy” as early as December 13, 2020.⁴ See ECF 260 at 30 n.193
17 (discussing the “November 18, 2020 memo from Kenneth Chesebro”). As the documents 18 Dr. Eastman produced to the Select Committee only after the Court ordered the 19 submission of a final privilege log show, Dr. Eastman was communicating with this 20 lawyer on these same issues as early as December 7, 2020. On that day, Dr. Eastman 21 forwarded to Rudy Giuliani a copy of a memo written on November 18, 2020, by this 22 same “Trump legal team,” proposing that Trump electors “cast their votes, and then send 23 their votes to the President of the Senate in time to be opened on January 6”⁵

1 As detailed in this strategy, the Vice President would “firmly take the position that 2 he, and he alone, is charged with the constitutional responsibility not just to open the 3 votes, but to count them—including making judgments about what to do if there are 4 conflicting votes.”⁶

5 As the evidence makes clear, however, Dr. Eastman himself believed that these 6 “alternate” slates of electors—the very “conflicting” votes that purportedly invoked the 7 Vice President’s authority—had no legal validity unless they were appointed by a state 8 legislature. On December 19, 2020, in an email exchange with an individual with whom 9 Dr. Eastman exchanged multiple emails in the post-election period, Dr. Eastman advised 10 that the seven Trump/Pence slates of electors “will be dead on arrival in Congress” 11 “unless those electors get a certification from their State Legislators.”⁷ Nevertheless, 12 only four days later, and without the certification Dr. Eastman acknowledged was 13 required, Dr. Eastman circulated a memorandum indicating that “7 states ha[d] 14 transmitted dual slates of electors to the President of the Senate” and urging the Vice 15 President to disregard the Biden electors from those seven States, “gavel[ing] President 16 Trump as re-elected” or “send[ing] the matter to the House” for resolution.⁸

17 After acknowledging his understanding only four days earlier that these slates 18 would be “dead on arrival,” Dr. Eastman told a representative of the Trump campaign 19 that “[t]he fact that we have multiple slates of electors demonstrates the uncertainty of 20 either. That should be enough.”⁹ In the days following January 6th, Dr. Eastman again

6 Other communications also undermine Dr. Eastman’s assertions that his advice 7 was predicated on a genuine belief that the 2020 election had been tainted by fraud. In an 8 exchange between Dr. Eastman, Cleta Mitchell, and several others on January 2, 2021, 9 Ms. Mitchell asked Dr. Eastman for information on election fraud and persuasive legal 10 arguments to pass to “Members of Congress and Senators, who are now clamoring for 11 facts and data re illegal votes.”¹¹ Dr. Eastman first responded that because “serious 12 forensic investigations have been blocked at almost every turn, I’ve been focusing on the 13 clear violations of state law,” offering an example from Georgia.¹² Ms. Mitchell then 14 replied: “What’s missing is any similar information in other states, of the kind we 15 assembled in GA. That’s what we are asking. Does it exist elsewhere?”¹³ Dr. Eastman 16 responded: “No idea. I haven’t even had a chance to look at that website link I sent—but 17 was told everything is assembled there. Is that not the case?”¹⁴ When Dr. Eastman later 18 offered to see if the Trump Campaign had this information, Ms. Mitchell responded: “I 19 can tell you now that I don’t think it exists but if you can figure it out, members of 20 Congress are desperate for it.”¹⁵ Dr. Eastman nevertheless continued to make false 21 allegations of election fraud, both publicly and privately—in fact, he opens his brief to 22 this Court with those very same false allegations. Br. at 1-9.

1 The documents recently produced to the Select Committee by Dr. Eastman provide 2 more than a reasonable basis to establish Dr. Eastman’s role throughout the period 3 covered by the subpoena. Only two days after the election, Dr. Eastman was asked to 4 prepare legal research regarding the role of state legislatures in appointing Presidential 5 electors.¹⁶ His resulting memorandum, titled “The Constitutional Authority of State
6 Legislatures to Choose Electors,” asserted that there was “more than enough in the way 7 of alteration of the legislatively-approved manner of choosing electors to warrant 8 legislatures in several states taking back their plenary power to determine the manner of 9 choosing electors, even to the point of adopting a slate of electors themselves.”¹⁷

10 By November 6, 2020, Dr. Eastman indicated that he had “[a]lready been in touch” 11 with an attorney believed to be working with President Trump “about the Legislature 12 override (for violations of existing state law) option,”¹⁸ and by November 28, 2020, his 13 paper had reached President Trump and the White House Chief of Staff, Mark 14 Meadows.¹⁹ Dr. Eastman repeatedly pushed this expansive theory of state legislative 15 power in states where Trump lost the popular vote, but where Republicans controlled 16 state legislatures.²⁰ But Dr. Eastman’s communications with legislators demonstrate that 17 this was not an academic discussion of a legitimate question of constitutional 18 interpretation; this was an outcome-driven campaign to overturn the result of a 19 democratic election.²¹ “Dr. Eastman and President Trump launched a campaign to 4 These examples only further highlight the need for this Court’s in-camera review 5 of the remaining documents to determine whether they contain communications in 6 furtherance of the former President’s efforts to obstruct the electoral count in violation of 7 18 U.S.C. § 1512(c)(2), and the conspiracy to defraud the United States in violation of 18

8 U.S.C. § 371.

9 b. United States v. Miller is an Outlier that Should Not Alter this Court’s 10 Analysis

11 Dr. Eastman now asks this Court to reverse its prior crime-fraud reasoning, 12 relying exclusively on United States v. Miller, No. 21-cr-119, 2022 WL 823070, (D.D.C.
13 Mar. 7, 2022): a single decision that is inconsistent with at least 11 other decisions.

14 For all the reasons set forth in this Court’s March 28 opinion, Miller is an outlier.
15 Nor is Miller’s Section 1512(c) analysis sturdy on its own docket. That opinion is 16 subject to a motion for reconsideration, see Mot. for Recons., Miller, No. 21-cr-119
17 (D.D.C. Apr. 1, 2022), ECF 75, and Judge Nichols recently stated he is “very seriously

24 votes and “discount” the vote totals to manufacture a Trump victory in the state, thus 25 “provid[ing] some cover” and “bolster[ing] the argument for the Legislature adopting a 26 state of Trump electors.” Ex. N at 1. The legislator responded to Dr. Eastman’s email 24 should govern analysis of the documents at issue here.

25 c. Dr. Eastman’s Repeated Lies About Election Fraud Were—and Still 26 Are—Dangerous

27 In attempting to rebut the notion that he acted “corruptly,” Eastman identifies a 28 series of allegations about election fraud—essentially arguing that these allegations can

1 somehow justify his actions. They cannot. The allegations are unproven conspiracy 2 theories and nonsense, already rejected by courts, the former President’s campaign, 3 subject matter experts and/or the U.S. Department of Justice.

4 1. To the extent Dr. Eastman was relying on allegations in legal complaints to 5 establish his belief regarding election fraud, those claims were being routinely rejected 6 by the courts,²³ with blistering criticism of the “evidence” put forward in support of the 7 claims.²⁴

8 2. Dr. Eastman begins his argument with allegations about Georgia. These 9 allegations are false. Dr. Eastman claims that hundreds of thousands of illegal votes were 10 cast in the 2020 presidential election in Georgia. To support this assertion, without citing 11 any additional evidence, Dr. Eastman relies on allegations in the complaint filed in the 12 Georgia case of Trump v. Raffensperger, No. 2020-cv-343255 (Ga. Super. Ct., Fulton 13 Cnty. Jan. 7, 2021) (the “Georgia Complaint”). The cited allegations involving 15 ²³ Dr. Eastman claims in a footnote that “almost every” case was “decided on 16 jurisdictional grounds without ever reaching the merits of the claims of illegality and 17 fraud.” Br. at 5 n.3. That is not true. In many cases, courts addressed and rejected the 18 merits of claims brought by the former President and those aligned with him. See

1 thousands of corrupt votes were wrong when they were made and have not withstood
2 scrutiny in the months since the former President and other plaintiffs voluntarily 3 dismissed their complaint on the eve of trial in January 2021, rather than having their 4 claims tested in the adversarial process.

5 First, Dr. Eastman refers to a claim raised in the Georgia Complaint that Georgia’s 6 absentee ballot disqualification rate declined from 2.9% in 2016 and 3.46% in 2018 to 7 .34% in 2020. See Br. at 5. Dr. Eastman attributes this change in ballot rejection rates to 8 “lax rules” adopted by the Georgia Secretary of State and posits that between 38,000 and 9 45,000 ballots that “should have been disqualified” were counted. Id. Dr. Eastman fails
10 to account for the expert analysis submitted under oath in response to the Georgia 11 Complaint explaining that Georgia’s substantial improvement with respect to absentee 12 ballot rejection rates is not a result of “lax rules,” but rather a reflection of the success of 13 COVID-era voter education efforts implemented throughout the country.²⁵ In fact, 14 almost every state in the country reduced its mail-in ballot rejection rate from the 2018 15 election through public voter education and related efforts.²⁶ According to a survey by 16 Ballotpedia, Georgia ranked 10th in terms of the largest reductions from 2018, and 13th 17 in terms of the lowest ballot rejection rate in 2020.²⁷

18 On the basis of these statistics alone, Dr. Eastman makes the claim that 45,000 19 Georgia voters should have their votes cancelled, but he has no actual evidence to justify 20 that result. And he only makes such arguments about states President Biden won, not

6 televised press conference on January 4, 2021, stating that the actual number of people 7 below the age of 18 who voted was zero.²⁸ The Secretary of State’s office reviewed the 8 dates of birth listed on the state’s voter registration rolls and found four cases where 9 individuals requested absentee ballots before their 18th birthday. In each case, the voter 10 turned 18 before Election Day.²⁹ Neither the Georgia Complaint, nor the affidavit upon 11 which it relied, nor Dr. Eastman, identifies a single voter in Georgia who voted before 12 turning 18.

13 Third, Dr. Eastman’s assertion that more than 40,000 voters moved to another 14 county within Georgia and voted in their prior county in 2020 is based on the Declaration 15 of Mark Davis. Mr. Davis compared National Change of Address forms to voter 16 registration records and concluded that 40,279 people moved across county lines within 17 Georgia more than 30 days before the election but cast a ballot in their old county of 18 residence.³⁰ Mr. Davis acknowledged in his declaration that “if those were all temporary

20 ²⁸ In a February 2022 presentation, Mr. Bryan Geels responded to the Secretary of State’s 21 findings by claiming that he never claimed in his report that underage people had voted 22 in Georgia. Rather, he claimed to have identified 2,047 instances in which data he 23 reviewed reflected a registration date and a birth date that were less than seventeen years 24 apart. Joe Hoft, Auditor Bryan Geels Identified Nearly 100,000 Ballots in Georgia that

1 relocations, they are eligible, but I think it highly likely the vast majority are not 2 temporary.”³¹ Mr. Davis offered no evidence to support this belief.

3 Nowhere did Mr. Davis contend that any of these voters registered in more than 4 one county or cast more than one ballot in the Presidential election; he merely stated that 5 they voted in their prior (or permanent) Georgia county of residence. He asserted that “a 6 person who does not permanently live in a county they cast vote in [sic] has no legal or 7 moral right to cast a vote for sheriff, district attorney, county commission, school board, 8 or in a legislative, congressional, or other districts they no longer reside in.”³² He failed 9 to offer any explanation as to how any vote cast in the wrong county in Georgia impacted 10 the 2020 Presidential election.

11 Fourth, Dr. Eastman’s filing reiterated the long-ago refuted claim that more than 12 10,000 votes were cast in the names of deceased people. For that claim, the Georgia
13 Complaint referenced by Dr. Eastman relied on the declaration of Bryan Geels, a CPA 14 from Seattle whose affidavit reflects no experience or expertise in election
15 administration, who compared a publicly available Georgia voter list to a list of deceased 16 individuals and claimed to have found “up to 10,315” instances in which individuals with 17 the same first name, last name and birth year appeared on both lists.³³ Mr. Geels warned 18 in his declaration, however, that his list was not meant to suggest that each of those 19 matched names corresponded to a fraudulent vote:

20 Because the Voter Registration file only contains the Birth Year for each registered 21 voter, a more exact match cannot be made and there may indeed be false positives

26 ³³ Ex. Q ¶ 50. Although Mr. Geels’ topline number of more than 10,000 names was 27 repeatedly cited by former President Trump, Rudy Giuliani and others, and has now been 28 presented to this Court by Dr. Eastman, even Mr. Geels only claimed that 8,718 individuals on his matched list “are recorded to have perished prior to the date the State records as having accepted their vote.” Id.

1 included in the population. Only the State possesses the full birth date records for 2 *its voters and could conduct the full analysis with certainty.*³⁴

3 Indeed, this concession by Mr. Geels raised serious questions about his entire “analysis.”
4 As noted in the declaration filed in the same Georgia case by MIT Professor Charles 5 Stewart, more than one million registered voters in Georgia shared a first name, last name 6 and birth year with at least one other Georgia voter in 2020, making it an absolute
7 certainty that a large number of people who voted in Georgia in 2020 had the same name 8 and birth year as someone who died that year.³⁵

9 In addition, even the former President’s own lawyers identified an additional 10 problem with Mr. Geels’s methodology: he included in his list all matched names of 11 people who had died by November 3, 2020, failing to account for the fact that virtually 12 all absentee ballot voters mailed in their ballots before Election Day. In internal 13 correspondence in January 2021, the former President’s attorneys acknowledged that Mr.
14 Geels’ list included many voters who died after they sent in their absentee ballot.³⁶

15 Lastly, and most importantly, the Georgia Secretary of State performed the “full 16 analysis” that Mr. Geels acknowledged only the State could conduct, and determined—in 17 ³⁴ Id. (emphasis added). More recently, Geels clarified that he did not mean to suggest by 18 his affidavit that any number of fraudulent votes were cast—stressing that he claimed 19 only that it might be up to 10,315 votes, and that the data showed 873 people who 20 received credit for voting although they died prior to Election Day. See Hoft, supra n. 33 (at 1:00:00 mark of video).

21 ³⁵ Ex. P ¶ 32. According to Professor Stewart, applying the most recently available data 22 regarding the death rate in Georgia of people over the age of 20, he would expect 11,572 23 registered voters in Georgia to share the same first and last name of another voter in Georgia who died in 2020. Id.

24 ³⁶ In a January 4, 2021 email to Rudy Giuliani, Steve Bannon, and others, an attorney 25 promoting election fraud claims attached a spreadsheet of Mr. Geels’ data that reflected 26 only 134 individuals with a date of death before the date that the ballot was received and 27 logged in by the Clerk’s office. Ex. S, Jan. 4, 2021 email from K.F. to R.H. et al. at 1.
28 More than half of those individuals died within three days of their vote being received and recorded by the Clerk, meaning they likely sent their ballot before they passed. The attorney told Mr. Giuliani: “I think this makes the case for unfortunate timing – many

1 findings that were widely publicized—that there were just four instances in which 2 individuals voted on behalf of deceased relatives.³⁷

3 The fundamental flaws in the Geels analysis relied on in the January 2021 Georgia 4 Complaint were identified in pleadings and public pronouncements in 2020 and 2021.
5 Yet Dr. Eastman promotes that analysis before this Court.

6 2. After focusing on Georgia, Eastman attempts to undermine conclusions by 7 Trump Administration officials that the election was not “stolen.” First, he challenges 8 the statement made by a consortium of election security agencies, including the 9 Department of Homeland Security’s Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency, 10 that: “There is no evidence that any voting system deleted or lost votes, changed votes, or 11 was in any way compromised.”³⁸ Dr. Eastman claims this statement was “proved . . . to 12 be false” by a forensic audit in Antrim County, Michigan,³⁹ and that Michigan’s own 13 expert “acknowledged that votes were switched in the machine due to an improper 14 software upgrade.” Br. at 8. This ASOG “audit” was proven to be false by state 15 officials, and President Trump was informed it was false by his own appointees at the ³⁹ The “forensic audit” referred to by Dr. Eastman was a report prepared by Allied Security Operations Group (“ASOG”), a group hired by Trump’s legal team.

1 U.S. Department of Justice.⁴⁰ A Michigan expert (whom Dr. Eastman references, see Br.
2 at 8 n.11) concluded: “The report contains an extraordinary number of false, inaccurate, 3 or unsubstantiated statements and conclusions.”⁴¹ Finally, a full hand recount of the 4 votes in Antrim County confirmed that that election systems used did not generate the 5 faulty vote counts described by the debunked report.⁴² Nowhere in the expert’s report 6 does he conclude that votes were switched through the “adjudication” process (as alleged 7 by the Trump team) or through any “software upgrade” (as claimed by Dr. Eastman).
8 Nor does the ASOG report or Michigan’s expert conclude that the security agency 9 statement noted above is false or incorrect.⁴³ Frankly, it is difficult to understand why 10 Dr. Eastman would raise these allegations again here.

11 Dr. Eastman also claims, without support, that the Department of Justice “did very 12 little in the way of investigations of election illegality and fraud.” Br. at 8. In fact, the 13 Justice Department changed a long-standing practice in 2020, and authorized U.S.
14 Attorneys to investigate allegations regarding the 2020 Presidential election even before 15 the results were certified.⁴⁴ As Acting Deputy Attorney General Donoghue testified, the 16 Justice Department looked into a litany of bogus claims raised by former President 17 Trump and his supporters and reported to the President on several occasions that the

1 claims were unfounded, including the precise claim that Dr. Eastman touts related to 2 Antrim County.⁴⁵

3 3. Dr. Eastman also reiterates claims that election provisions enacted prior to the 4 2020 general election in Pennsylvania and Wisconsin were unconstitutional, see Br. at 6-5 7, notwithstanding the fact (as acknowledged by Dr. Eastman) that the Supreme Courts 6 of both states rejected the claims in 2020 (and that the U.S. Supreme Court did not 7 reverse either). See id. at 7. He does not describe the particular Wisconsin measures he 8 believes were unconstitutional.

9 With respect to Pennsylvania, Dr. Eastman refers to litigation related to the 10 constitutionality of a provision passed in 2019 by the Republican-led General Assembly 11 of Pennsylvania to add no-excuse mail-in voting. After no challenge was filed with 12 respect to the provision within the required 180 days of enactment, the provision was 13 applied in the 2020 primary election and the general election in November 2020. After 14 the November election, petitioners sued to block certification of the election on the 15 ground that the voting law was unconstitutional. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court 16 dismissed the claim based on petitioners’ “failure to file their facial constitutional 17 challenge in a timely manner,” noting the “substantial prejudice” if the court were to 18 adopt “the extraordinary proposition that the court disenfranchise all 6.9 million 19 Pennsylvanians who voted in the General Election.” Order at 2-3, Kelly v.
20 Commonwealth of Pa., No. 68-map-2020 (Pa. Nov. 28, 2020) (per curiam) (citation 21 omitted). Thus, whether or not Dr. Eastman thinks that the Pennsylvania Supreme Court 22 ruled incorrectly in that case as a matter of Pennsylvania law, this example cannot 23 reasonably be cited as evidence of fraud or a stolen election. Again, it is very difficult to 24 understand how Dr. Eastman believes this is helpful to his position in this litigation.

25 Further, without analysis or discussion Dr. Eastman cites to articles suggesting the 26 “improbability” of President Biden’s electoral victory and touts a recent documentary 27 claiming a “massive and illegal ballot harvesting scheme.” Br. at 6. In particular, the

9 d. President Trump Likely Engaged in Common Law Fraud

10 In addressing the January 4-7 documents, this Court “d[id] not reach whether 11 President Trump likely engaged in common law fraud.” ECF 260 at 40. He did, and any 12 materials in the current population of documents reflecting this fraud must be produced.

13 The District of Columbia, where these frauds occurred, defines common law fraud 14 as: (1) “a false representation”; (2) “in reference to material fact”; (3) “made with 15 knowledge of its falsity”; (4) “with the intent to deceive”; and (5) “action is taken in 16 reliance upon the representation.” Atraqchi v. GUMC Unified Billing Servs., 788 A.2d 17 559, 563 (D.C. 2002).⁴⁷ As Congressional Defendants explained in their brief on the 18 January 4-7 documents, the former President made numerous false statements regarding 19 election fraud, both personally and through his associates, to the public at large and to 20 various state and federal officials. See ECF 164-1 at 6-7. These statements included 21 misrepresentations about the validity of state and federal election results. See id. at 7-8.

25 acknowledges quote from film: “I want to make very clear that we’re not suggesting the ballots that were cast were illegal ballots.”).

26 ⁴⁷ The definition of fraudulent deceit under California law largely tracks these elements.
27 See Small v. Fritz Cos., Inc., 65 P.3d 1255, 1258 (Cal. 2003) (requiring (1) a 28 “misrepresentation”; (2) “knowledge of falsity (or scienter)”; (3) “intent to defraud, i.e., to induce reliance”; (4) “justifiable reliance”; and (5) “resulting damage” (internal quotation marks omitted)).

1 And the evidence supports a good-faith inference that the President did so with 2 knowledge of the falsity of these statements and an intent to deceive his listeners with the 3 hope they would take steps in reliance thereon. Congressional Defendants incorporate by 4 reference the portion of their prior brief discussing common law fraud. See ECF 164-1 at

6 B. The Select Committee Subpoena Does Not Violate the First Amendment

7 For the fourth time, Dr. Eastman challenges the subpoena on First Amendment 8 grounds.⁴⁸ This Court rejected Dr. Eastman’s First Amendment argument before, see 9 ECF 43 at 13, and—if it sees any need to address this iteration of Dr. Eastman’s First 10 Amendment argument—this Court should do so again.

11 A First Amendment challenge to a duly authorized subpoena depends on a 12 balancing of “the competing private and public interests at stake in the particular 13 circumstances shown.” Barenblatt v. United States, 360 U.S. 109, 126 (1959); see also 14 ECF 43 at 12 (applying Barenblatt balancing test to First Amendment claim). Dr.
15 Eastman now advances a theory that his First Amendment challenge triggers “exacting 16 scrutiny” instead of Barenblatt’s balancing test. See Br. at 31-32 (arguing the plurality 17 opinion in Americans for Prosperity v. Bonta, 141 S. Ct. 2373 (2021) requires an 18 exacting scrutiny test).⁴⁹ The plurality in Bonta requires no such thing.⁵⁰

19 Dr. Eastman fails to cite any case holding that this standard applies to a 20 Congressional subpoena. The one court that confronted the issue declined to resolve the 21 question of which standard applies and instead “assume[d] that the narrow-tailoring 22 requirement applie[d].” Repub. Nat’l Comm. v. Pelosi (“RNC”), No. 22-cv-659, 2022 offer his exacting scrutiny theory.

1 WL 1294509, at *21 (D.D.C. May 1, 2022), appeal pending, No. 22-5123 (D.C. Cir.).
2 That assumption followed the court’s reasoning that the “exacting scrutiny” theory
3 derived from the Bonta plurality and Barenblatt’s balancing test “appear to be different 4 ways of saying much the same thing.” Id. at *20; id. (“the Court does not see much if 5 any difference” between the Bonta exacting scrutiny test and the Barenblatt balancing 6 test). According to the RNC court, like the Barenblatt test, the Bonta test calls for 7 “balanc[ing] the burdens imposed on individuals and associations against the significance 8 of the government interest in disclosure.” Id. (quoting Am. Fed’n of Lab. & Cong. of 9 Indus. Orgs. v. Fed. Election Comm’n, 333 F.3d 168, 176 (D.C. Cir. 2003)).

10 This Court has already correctly held that the balance falls on the Select 11 Committee’s side. In rejecting Dr. Eastman’s First Amendment arguments in the context 12 of Dr. Eastman’s motion for preliminary injunctive relief, this Court held that “[t]he 13 public interest here is weighty and urgent. Congress seeks to understand the causes of a 14 grave attack on our nation’s democracy and a near-successful attempt to subvert the will 15 of the voters.” ECF 43 at 12. And, “Congressional action to ‘safeguard [a presidential] 16 election’ is ‘essential to preserve the departments and institutions of the general 17 government from impairment or destruction, whether threatened by force or by 18 corruption.’” Id. (quoting Burroughs v. United States, 290 U.S. 534, 545 (1934)). See

21 circumstances of the January 6th attack so that it can adopt measures to better protect the 22 Capitol Complex, prevent similar harm in the future, and ensure the peaceful transfer of 23 power”).

24 Consistent with this Court’s reasoning, the Supreme Court itself has recognized 25 that the public interest is extremely high when the focus is on ensuring “the free 26 functioning of our national institutions.” Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1, 66 (1976)

1 of a Congressional subpoena violates a respondent’s First Amendment rights). The 2 Select Committee is doing precisely that by seeking documents related to Dr. Eastman’s 3 efforts to justify overturning an election.

4 As the RNC court explained, even applying a narrow-tailoring inquiry, the 5 contours “‘must be calibrated to fit the distinct issues raised’ in the context of each case.”

14 Dr. Eastman, by contrast, hangs his theory of injury on the presumption that the 15 Select Committee will haphazardly release this information to the public despite the fact 16 that, according to Dr. Eastman himself, this information is irrelevant to the investigation.
17 See Br. at 33 (accusing the Select Committee of disclosing information); id. at 32

23

24 ⁵¹ Dr. Eastman’s judgment about relevance has no place in the inquiry. He is in no 25 position to dictate what the Select Committee will determine is relevant. And, even 26 accepting the representation that the documents “are of little use to the Select 27 Committee’s investigation,” Br. at 32, the Supreme Court has been clear that “[t]he very 28 nature of the investigative function—like any research—is that it takes the searchers up injury are not sufficient”) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

⁵³ That is a key difference between this case and Perry v. Schwarzenegger, 591 F.3d 1147, 1161 (9th Cir. 2010), which did not involve a Congressional subpoena.

1 II. Dr. Eastman Has Not Met His Burden to Establish an Attorney-Client or 2 Agency Relationship

3 Dr. Eastman claims attorney-client privilege over 162 of the disputed documents,⁵⁴
4 including 148 over which he also claims work-protect protection. Dr. Eastman has not 5 met his burden to establish attorney-client privilege over these documents.

6 A. Dr. Eastman Failed to Meet His Burden of Establishing Attorney-Client
7 Privilege as to the Documents Related to Purported Representation of 8 Former President Trump or His Campaign

9 As to his representation of former President Trump, Dr. Eastman’s efforts to shield 10 documents under the guise of an attorney-client communication fail here for the same 11 reason they failed previously: none of the communications are with President Trump 12 himself and Dr. Eastman failed to meet his burden to establish that the various third 13 parties with whom he communicated were attorneys or agents for President Trump. See 14 ECF 260 at 21. Dr. Eastman also failed to establish that the scope of his representation 15 of former President Trump encompassed the entire period at issue and all documents at 16 issue.

17 1. “[V]oluntarily disclosing privileged documents to third parties will generally 18 destroy the privilege.” In re Pac. Pictures Corp., 679 F.3d 1121, 1126–27 (9th Cir.
19 2012); see also Reiserer v. United States, 479 F.3d 1160, 1165 (9th Cir. 2007) (“there is 20 no confidentiality where a third party . . . either receives or generates the documents.”).
21 Dr. Eastman labels numerous people as co-counsel or agents of a client, but he repeatedly 22 fails to meet his burden to establish any such co-counsel or agency relationship and does 23 not comply with this Court’s May 12, 2022, Order.

24 This Court previously held that Dr. Eastman failed to meet his burden of 25 establishing attorney-client privilege as to the documents over which he previously

26 ⁵⁴ Dr. Eastman states he asserted attorney-client privilege “over 113 documents 27 containing communications with agents of former President Trump or with other 28 attorneys working on Trump’s legal team,” Br. at 12, and over “fifty documents where the client (or potential client) was other than former President Trump or his campaign committee,” Id. at 16 (footnote omitted), for a total of 163 under his calculation.

1 claimed privilege because: (1) “[n]one of th[o]se documents include[d] Dr. Eastman’s
2 client, President Trump, as a sender or recipient of the email” and “[i]nstead, all emails
3 are sent from a third party to Dr. Eastman, and two of the emails blind copy (bcc) a close 4 advisor to President Trump;” and (2) “Dr. Eastman failed to provide retainer agreements 5 or a sworn declaration that would prove this third party was an attorney or agent for 6 President Trump.” ECF 260 at 21.

7 The same is true here. None of the 113 documents for which Dr. Eastman asserts 8 attorney-client privilege and names President Trump as his client includes President 9 Trump as a sender or recipient of the email; instead, all 113 emails include third parties.⁵⁵
10 Many of these documents include the same third parties that this Court already concluded 11 broke the privilege. See ECF 260 at 21; see, e.g., Chapman055012-14, 055029-31, 12 055050-54, 055112-16, 055127-32, 055012-14, 055029-31, and 055050-54.⁵⁶

13 On May 12, this Court ordered that Dr. Eastman file “evidence of all attorney-14 client and agent relationships asserted in the privilege log,” consisting of 15 contemporaneous “engagement letters, retainer agreements, or other writings” that 16 “confirm the timing and scope of each attorney relationship and each agent 17 relationship.” ECF 343 at 1. Absent such contemporaneous written documentation, Dr.
18 Eastman was ordered to provide “a sworn statement from an attorney, client, or agent in 19 each relationship attesting that written documentation does not exist and specifying the 20 timing and scope of the relationship.” Id. at 2 (emphasis added).

21 Dr. Eastman did not comply with this order and has failed to meet his burden to 22 demonstrate that all the people he alleges served as co-counsel or agents for the former

23 ⁵⁵ Dr. Eastman’s declaration claims “[i]t was necessary to communicate with Mr. Trump 24 through agents due to his responsibilities as President of the United States.” Decl. of 25 John C. Eastman ¶ 4, May 19, 2022, ECF 346. He then lists three people he labels as 26 “Presidential staff members.” Id. at ¶ 3(b). The first person listed appears to be the 27 President’s executive assistant and could possibly have been an agent for attorney-client 28 purposes, the other two had no such administrative role.

⁵⁶ Dr. Eastman asserts work product privilege over these documents as well. For the reasons discussed in Section III below, those arguments also fail.

1 President or his campaign did in fact serve in those roles. Dr. Eastman introduced no 2 engagement letters, retainer or agency agreements, or any other contemporaneous 3 documents establishing these alleged relationships. Instead, he produced six recent 4 declarations (one of which is neither signed nor dated) from a narrow subset of those 5 people he alleges served as co-counsel or agents for the former President or his 6 campaign to support these purported relationships. That is not enough to meet his 7 burden.

8 Dr. Eastman’s own declaration has many deficiencies. Nowhere does Dr.
9 Eastman “attest[] that written documentation [of the attorney-client or agency 10 relationships] does not exist.” Id. at 2. The declaration alleges that certain people 11 served as agents of President Trump or his campaign, but, contrary to this Court’s order 12 requiring “a sworn statement from an attorney, client, or agent in each relationship,” Dr.
13 Eastman has not provided any statement or other evidence from President Trump, his 14 campaign, or these alleged agents demonstrating the purported relationship. Id. at 2 15 (emphasis added); cf. In re Bonanno, 344 F.2d 830, 833 (2d Cir. 1965) (“[T]he burden of 16 establishing the existence of the relationship rests on the claimant of the privilege 17 against disclosure. That burden is not, of course, discharged by mere conclusory or ipse 18 dixit assertions, for any such rule would foreclose meaningful inquiry into the existence 19 of the relationship, and any spurious claims could never be exposed.”).

20 Dr. Eastman’s declaration similarly includes a conclusory allegation that various 21 people served as “attorneys on the Trump legal team,” but the required attestation or 22 other evidence from President Trump or these individuals verifying the alleged 23 relationships is absent. Decl. of John C. Eastman ¶ 4, May 19, 2022, ECF 346. Similar 24 ipse dixit assertions are made that others assisted with various legal cases on behalf of 25 President Trump, but no statement or other evidence from President Trump or these 26 individuals evidencing a co-counsel or agency relationship is provided.

27 The declaration from an attorney licensed to practice law in Indiana and the five-28 page declaration from an attorney licensed to practice law in Georgia contain similar

1 inadequacies. Neither “attest[s] that written documentation [of the attorney-client or 2 agency relationships] does not exist.” ECF 343 at 2. Both declarations allege that 3 certain individuals were attorneys for President Trump or his campaign, yet no statement 4 or other evidence from President Trump or these individuals verifying the alleged 5 relationship is provided.

6 Moreover, the declaration from the Indiana attorney qualifies this allegation as 7 being “[t]o the best of [the declarant’s] knowledge and recollection,” while the 8 declaration from the Georgia attorney qualifies the allegation as being made “[o]n 9 information and belief.” Decl. of K.A.K. at 2, May 19, 2022, ECF 346; Decl. of K.H. at 10 2-4, May 19, 2022, ECF 346. Both hedges suggest a lack of first-hand knowledge of the 11 alleged relationships and uncertainty regarding their existence, and they cannot suffice 12 as compliance with this Court’s order.

13 The two-page declaration from another attorney similarly names other attorneys 14 with whom the declarant allegedly worked on a litigation matter in which the declarant 15 claims to have represented President Trump, but this declaration does not even allege 16 that these other attorneys served as counsel or agents for President Trump. Moreover, 17 no statement or other evidence from President Trump or these individuals claiming that 18 they had an attorney-client or agency relationship is provided. As with the other 19 declarations, nowhere does this declaration “attest[] that written documentation [of the 20 attorney-client or agency relationships] does not exist.” ECF 343 at 2.

21 Finally, because the declaration assertedly by an attorney licensed to practice law 22 in Pennsylvania is not dated or signed and thus not executed, it is inadequate and should 23 not be relied upon by this Court. Cf. In re W/B Assocs., 307 B.R. 476, 483 (Bankr. W.D.
24 Pa. 2004), aff’d sub nom. Est. Partners, Ltd. v. Leckey, No. 04-cv-1404, 2005 WL
25 4659380 (W.D. Pa. Aug. 31, 2005), aff’d sub nom. In re W/B Assocs., 196 F. App’x 105 26 (3d Cir. 2006) (“An unsigned agreement, in and of itself, raises material questions as to 27 its validity and applicability.”); Solis v. Taco Maker, Inc., No. 1:09-cv-3293, 2013 WL 28

1 4541912, at *5 (N.D. Ga. Aug. 27, 2013) (unsigned engagement letter insufficient to 2 establish attorney-client relationship).⁵⁷

3 Yet again, Dr. Eastman “has not met his burden to show that these 4 communications were with [counsel to, or] an agent of President Trump or the Trump 5 campaign, and as such, these documents do not warrant the protection of the attorney-6 client privilege.” ECF 260 at 21.

7 2. Dr. Eastman also falls short of meeting his burden to establish the sweeping 8 attorney-client relationship with former President Trump that he asserts. Dr. Eastman 9 continues to rely on the same unsigned, undated retainer letter—which he now describes 10 as a “draft”—to assert a sweeping attorney-client relationship with former President 11 Trump. Br. at 10. An unsigned, undated engagement letter that by its own language 12 becomes operative when signed⁵⁸ does not by itself trigger an indefinite attorney-client 13 relationship.

14 Even if all of the above were not true, former President Trump waived any 15 privilege by expressly requesting disclosure to third parties. See ECF 164-1 at 28-30.
16 This Court did not address the waiver issue in its March 28 Order, but Congressional 17 Defendants incorporate by reference their waiver argument in connection with their prior 18 brief.⁵⁹

19 This Court concluded that for the January 4-7 timeframe, enough evidence 20 supported an “attorney-client relationship with President Trump and his campaign

21 ⁵⁷ Any belated effort by the Dr. Eastman to cure this defect in his reply by appending a 22 signed declaration or engagement letter should not be permitted. See U.S. ex rel. Giles v.
23 Sardie, 191 F. Supp. 2d 1117, 1127 (C.D. Cal. 2000) (“It is improper for a moving party 24 to introduce new facts or different legal arguments in the reply brief than those presented in the moving papers.”).

25 ⁵⁸ See Ex. 2 at 1, Engagement Letter (Dec. 5, 2020), ECF 132-2 (retention letter stating it 26 becomes operative “[u]pon the proper signatures by all parties hereto”).

27 ⁵⁹ See ECF 343 at 2 (permitting parties to “cross reference or restate arguments made in 28 their previous briefings for the January 4-7, 2021 documents”).

1 between January 4 and 6, 2021.” ECF 260 at 14. But Dr. Eastman’s court appearance on 2 January 5 and his attendance in meetings “[i]n the days leading up to January 6” are not 3 enough for Dr. Eastman to meet his burden of establishing (1) an attorney client-4 relationship from November 3, 2020 to January 20, 2021, and (2) that the specific 5 documents over which he claims attorney-client privilege fall within the scope of the 6 representation. Indeed, Dr. Eastman has yet to introduce any evidence describing the 7 scope of his representation.

8 Dr. Eastman did enter some court appearances on behalf of President Trump 9 during this timeframe, but he has fallen short of meeting his burden to establish the 10 overall scope of his representation and how each document over which he asserts 11 attorney-client privilege fell within that scope. For the first time, Dr. Eastman attempts 12 to link particular documents to particular cases. Because Congressional Defendants have 13 not seen these documents, they cannot evaluate whether they establish the attorney-client 14 relationship Dr. Eastman describes. In any event, even if Dr. Eastman has demonstrated 15 an attorney-client relationship, many of the communications were in furtherance of a 16 crime or fraud and are thus not protected. See Section I.A, supra.

17 B. Dr. Eastman Has Not Met His Burden to Establish the Attorney-Client
18 Relationship as to Documents Related to Other Purported Clients

19 Beyond his claims of privilege related to representation of President Trump or his 20 campaign, Dr. Eastman asserts that he has claimed attorney-client privilege over 21 communications with “9 different clients or potential clients who were seeking Dr.
22 Eastman’s legal advice,” including seven state legislators, a party committeewoman, and 23 a citizen coordinating information sessions for state legislators. Br. at 16.

24 Here, too, Dr. Eastman has not met his burden to establish that his communications 25 with purported clients, or potential clients, are privileged and has failed to comply with 26 this Court’s May 12 order. Dr. Eastman has not introduced any engagement letter, 27 retainer agreement, or other contemporaneous writing reflecting these purported potential 28

1 or actual representations. And Dr. Eastman’s own declaration is insufficient to satisfy 2 the Court’s order. Its perfunctory assertions merely claim that he had privileged 3 communications with various parties, and it does not “attest[] that written documentation 4 does not exist” nor does it “specify[] the timing and scope of the relationship.” ECF 343 5 at 2 (emphasis added).

6 Dr. Eastman’s declaration not only fails to satisfy the Court’s order, but it also 7 appears misleading. For instance, of the first three people with whom Dr. Eastman 8 claims to have spoken “about potential representation,” Pl. Decl. ¶15, ECF 346, the third 9 has been in contact with the Select Committee through separate counsel. This separate 10 counsel has informed the Select Committee that this third person “never retained nor 11 considered retaining Dr[.] John Eastman.”⁶⁰ Rather, the person “contacted Dr[.] Eastman 12 merely to correct Eastman’s incorrect publicly stated position on the [Pennsylvania] 13 Constitution,” and “never had any attorney-client privileged communications” with Dr.
14 Eastman.⁶¹ In fact, this third person has produced to the Select Committee documents 15 that appear to match those described in Dr. Eastman’s consolidated privilege log as 16 “Comm with agent and potential clients re follow-up from conference call on possible 17 legal consultation.” Chapman023582.

18 As this Court has noted, the privilege relies in part on “whether the client believed 19 an attorney-client relationship existed.” ECF 260 at 14 (quoting Boskoff v. Yano, 57 F.
20 Supp. 2d 994, 998 (D. Haw. 1998)). In short, Dr. Eastman has not come close to meeting 21 his burden to demonstrate that documents he alleges are related to purported actual or 22 prospective clients other than President Trump are protected by attorney-client privilege.

23 The vague statement in Dr. Eastman’s declaration that he spoke with three people 24 “about potential representation” and that they “had privileged communications,” Pl. Decl.
25 ¶15, is problematic for other reasons as well. The declaration does not clarify whether 26 Dr. Eastman spoke with some or all of the three people together or separately, nor what

27 _____
28 ⁶⁰ Ex. V, Mar. 10, 2022 at 1.

⁶¹ Id.

1 or whose potential representation was orally discussed. Moreover, its ipse dixit assertion 2 of a legal conclusion that is the subject of this litigation and for the Court to determine
3 (“[w]e had privileged communications”), which appears repeatedly in the Dr. Eastman’s 4 declaration, is inadequate. Id.; see In re Bonanno, 344 F.2d at 833; Pl. Decl. ¶¶ 16, 17, 5 19.

6 The similar imprecise statement in Dr. Eastman’s declaration that he had allegedly 7 privileged communications with an individual and that individual’s alleged agent about a 8 potential representation, Pl. Decl. ¶17, likewise fails to meet his burden. Moreover, with 9 regard to this alleged agency relationship, the lack of a sworn statement from the 10 individual or the individual’s agent results, as explained above, in Dr. Eastman failing 11 both to comply with this Court’s May 12 order and to meet his burden to establish any 12 communications were privileged given the presence of a third party. See In re Pac.
13 Pictures Corp., 679 F.3d at 1126–27.

14 The statements in Dr. Eastman’s declaration that he offered pro bono legal advice 15 to two people fail to comply with this Court’s order and to meet his burden to establish 16 that any related documents are privileged. See Pl. Decl. ¶¶18, 20. Dr. Eastman has not 17 produced “a sworn statement from an attorney, client, or agent in each relationship 18 attesting that written documentation does not exist and specifying the timing and scope of 19 the relationship.” ECF 343 at 2. The declaration does not address whether any written 20 documentation exists, and although the months in which the legal advice was offered are 21 listed, the scopes of the relationships are not adequately specified. See id. Again, Dr.
22 Eastman has failed to establish that his communications with his purported actual or 23 potential clients are privileged; the associated documents do not warrant protection.

24 C. At the Very Least, Dr. Eastman Must Produce Redacted Versions of 25 Email Threads

26 Dr. Eastman asserts that he withheld entire email threads (even though he asserted 27 privilege over only a portion of the thread) because Dr. Eastman deemed the non-28

1 privileged portions to be “innocuous.” Br. at 12 n.16. That is not how privilege 2 productions work.

3 “It is not proper to withhold an entire document from discovery on grounds that a 4 portion of it may be privileged. Where a document purportedly contains some privileged 5 information, the unprivileged portions of the document must be produced during 6 discovery.” Breon v. Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of New England, 232 F.R.D. 49, 55 (D.
7 Conn. 2005). “The proper procedure in such instances is to redact the allegedly 8 privileged communication, and produce the redacted document. The allegedly privileged 9 information then should be described in a properly executed privilege log.” Id.; see also 10 Anderson v. Trustees of Dartmouth Coll., No. 19-cv-109, 2020 WL 5031910, at *2 11 (D.N.H. Aug. 25, 2020) (“The applicable law is straight-forward: ‘If the nonprivileged 12 portions of a communication are distinct and severable, and their disclosure would not 13 effectively reveal the substance of the privileged legal portions, the court must designate 14 which portions of the communication are protected and therefore may be excised or 15 redacted (blocked out) prior to disclosure.”) (quoting Paul Rice, Attorney-Client Privilege 16 in the United States § 11:21 (2014)).⁶²

17 Dr. Eastman must produce the withheld documents with material over which he 18 was asserting privilege redacted, rather than withholding those email threads in their 19 entirety.

21 ⁶² Durling v. Papa John’s Int’l, Inc., No. 16-cv-3592, 2018 WL 557915, at *9 (S.D.N.Y.
22 Jan. 24, 2018) (where party had not “adequately demonstrated that, under the 23 circumstances, reviewing and redacting the [email] strings at issue would be unduly 24 burdensome,” it was not permitted to “withhold the entirety of a conversation merely 25 because one portion of such communication is subject to privilege”; rather, the defendant 26 was under an obligation to “selectively redact the document in question and produce any 27 non-privileged portions”) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted); Fed. R.
28 Civ. P. 34(b)(2)(C) (“An objection to part of a [discovery] request must specify the part and permit inspection of the rest.”); id. 1993 Amendment (the rule “make[s] clear that, if a request for production is objectionable only in part, production should be afforded with respect to the unobjectionable portions”).

1 III. Dr. Eastman Has Not Met His Burden to Establish Protection of the Work
2 Product Doctrine

3 “The work-product doctrine is a qualified privilege that protects from discovery 4 documents and tangible things prepared by a party or his representative in anticipation of 5 litigation.” United States v. Sanmina Corp., 968 F.3d 1107, 1119 (9th Cir. 2020)
6 (internal quotation marks and citation omitted). To qualify for work-product protection, 7 documents must: “(1) be prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial and (2) be 8 prepared by or for another party or by or for that other party’s representative.” United 9 States v. Richey, 632 F.3d 559, 567 (9th Cir. 2011) (internal quotation marks and citation 10 omitted). Dr. Eastman claims protection of the work product doctrine over 557 11 documents. As with many in the prior batch of documents, Dr. Eastman has failed to 12 meet his burden to prove applicability of the work-product doctrine.

13 Dr. Eastman’s expansive assertions of work-product privilege appear to hinge on 14 two flawed presumptions. First, anything that might eventually result in litigation meets 15 the “prepared in anticipation of litigation” requirement. Second, that “conduit to an 16 adversary” must be read so narrowly that it will not apply so long as a party shares the 17 document with someone he thinks may be likeminded. Even if Dr. Eastman properly 18 invoked the work product doctrine, however, the Select Committee’s substantial need 19 overcomes that protection.

20 A. Dr. Eastman Failed to Meet His Initial Burden to Invoke the Work
21 Product Doctrine

22 Dr. Eastman fails in his initial burden to invoke work product protection for two 23 reasons. First, many of the documents were prepared for political purposes, not in 24 anticipation of litigation. Second, Dr. Eastman leaves gaping holes in his analysis 25 attempting to link particular documents to co-counsel or agents in the various lawsuits he 26 cites.

27 1. Dr. Eastman falls far short of meeting his burden to show that the documents at 28 issue were prepared in anticipation of litigation. As this Court already explained, “Dr.

1 Eastman used evidence of alleged election fraud for two purposes: to support state 2 litigation and to persuade legislators and Vice President Pence to act. Despite those 3 possible dual purposes, these emails do not suggest that Dr. Eastman used them for 4 litigation, make no mention of litigation, and would have had the same form without the 5 prospect of litigation.” ECF 260 at 26. This appears to be true of the documents over 6 which Dr. Eastman now attempts to invoke work product protection.

7 Many of the documents appear to relate to Dr. Eastman’s Electoral Count Act plan 8 and his efforts to persuade elected officials to simply discard the results of the 2020 9 election. These documents were animated by political strategy, and not created in 10 anticipation of litigation. See ECF 260 at 23-25. Because Dr. Eastman has not 11 established that the documents were created in anticipation of litigation, they must be 12 produced. See ECF 260 at 25.

13 Dr. Eastman insists that this Court should revisit and reverse its prior holding that 14 Dr. Eastman’s efforts to secure alternate slates of electors from various states were not in 15 anticipation of litigation. See Br. at 24-27. Dr. Eastman claims that “the Electoral Count 16 Act and the 12th Amendment place Congress in an adjudicative capacity with respect to 17 the validity of the states’ electors.” Br. at 26. This argument is flawed in three respects.

18 First, Dr. Eastman cites no authority for his “legislative equivalent of litigation” 19 theory that Congress transforms into an adjudicative body when it weighs alternate slates 20 of electors. Br. at 25.

21 Second (and most fatal to his argument), Dr. Eastman’s theory depends on events 22 that never occurred: states actually submitting alternate slates of electors. Not a single 23 state submitted certificates or papers purporting to be certificates of the electoral votes 24 in connection with the 2020 Presidential election, so Congress’s power to weigh 25 alternate slates of electors—whether or not that is an adjudicative process—was never 26 triggered.

27 Third, Dr. Eastman’s actions were not an effort to participate in an adjudicative 28 process (such that they might be eligible for work product privilege protection); they

1 were instead criminal acts subject to the crime-fraud exception and, thus, not protected
2 by a privilege. See Section I(A), supra. The evidence establishes that Dr. Eastman did 3 not merely serve as a lawyer providing legal advice about what happens when states 4 submit alternate slates of electors. Instead, Dr. Eastman played an active role in trying to 5 materialize alternate slates of electors. Dr. Eastman affirmatively urged state legislators 6 from states won by President Biden to “decertify” electors. See ECF 260 at 4. And when 7 that effort failed, Dr. Eastman and former President Trump attempted to persuade the 8 then-Vice President to disrupt the electoral count. See id. at 6-8. Even if Congress acts 9 in some adjudicative capacity when it weighs alternate slates of electors, a lawyer’s 10 efforts to corrupt that process do not become attorney work product entitled to protection.

11 2. For the first time in this litigation, Dr. Eastman now attempts to link certain 12 documents to particular lawsuits. See Br. at 29-34. Because Congressional Defendants 13 have no access to those documents, they cannot confirm Dr. Eastman’s representations, 14 nor can they fully examine whether the numerous people included on these 15 communications were adversaries or conduits to adversaries. Some deficiencies, 16 however, are obvious even from the limited information available to Congressional 17 Defendants.

18 For example, in his effort to link documents to Donald J. Trump for President, Inc.
19 v. Boockvar, Dr. Eastman claims that 14 documents involve communications among an 20 unidentified list of attorneys (who Dr. Eastman claims “made formal appearances or 21 otherwise assisted with the litigation”) and a team of experts and attorneys conducting 22 statistical and other technical analyses in support of the litigation. Br. at 19. To support 23 that proposition, he cites Paragraph 11 of his own declaration which states, “[o]n 24 information and belief, everyone included on those group emails was volunteering their 25 expertise in support of the Trump legal efforts.” Pl. Decl. ¶ 11, ECF 346 (emphasis 26 added).

27 Nowhere does Dr. Eastman introduce common interest agreements, retention 28 letters, agency agreements, or any other contemporaneous evidence supporting this

1 representation. Dr. Eastman does not identify the specific attorneys, where they 2 practiced, the dates of their involvement, or (for many) whether they even appeared in the 3 litigation. His representation on “information and belief” alone is insufficient. See also 4 Br. at 19-20 (citing K.H. Decl. ¶¶ 4-6 for the proposition that certain emails were 5 “communications among the team of statistical and other experts providing assistance to 6 the legal team on the litigation,” but those paragraphs of the declaration are made only 7 “on information and belief”). Elsewhere too, Dr. Eastman summarily asserts that his 8 communications were with “the Trump legal team who entered appearances in or 9 otherwise assisted with the case,” Br. at 19, but nowhere does he identify when these 10 people entered appearances in the case or (for those who did not enter appearances) 11 explain their role and how they were connected to the case.

12 Dr. Eastman also identifies communications where a “a non-lawyer officer of the 13 non-profit with which they are affiliated, and who cannot be viewed as a conduit to an 14 adversary, was copied.” *Id.*⁶³ Dr. Eastman does not identify the non-profit nor does he 15 explain the affiliation with the non-profit or what the non-lawyer officer’s interest was in 16 the litigation. Without knowing this information, it is impossible to determine whether 17 this person could be an adversary or conduit to an adversary.

18 Dr. Eastman also asserts that the email exchanges “included several non-attorney 19 individuals who were either employed by the Trump campaign or working under 20 agreement with the Trump legal team to assist in gathering information for the 21 anticipated litigation.” Br. at 19-20 (citing bates numbers 21854, 62657). Nowhere, 22 however, does he describe these people’s affiliation with the Trump campaign—and he 23 includes no agreements with the Trump legal team reflecting these relationships. Of the 24 nine people included on these emails (as evident from the privilege log), only one has a 25 “@donaldtrump.com” email address. Some have “@gmail.com” addresses, two have 26
27

28 ⁶³ It is unclear from Dr. Eastman’s representation whom “they” refers to.

1 “@teapartypatriots.org” email addresses, and one has a “@gagop.org” email address.⁶⁴
2 Dr. Eastman, moreover, states that he engaged in communications with “another attorney 3 with whom he was collaboratively discussing legal issues in the litigation,” but their 4 communications were “transmitted via intermediaries (a family member of the lawyer 5 and a mutual friend),” Br. at 21; id. at 22 (noting one of the “intermediaries” used for the 6 communications was “a family member of the lawyer”).

7 These representations are insufficient to meet Dr. Eastman’s burden of establishing 8 application of the work product doctrine.

9 B. Dr. Eastman Waived His Claims to Protection of the Work Product
10 Doctrine

11 For any documents that were indeed prepared in anticipation of litigation, work-12 product protection is unavailable if that privilege was waived. Dr. Eastman shared these 13 materials broadly, circulating them to scores of people he perceived to be likeminded.
14 See Section III(A), supra. Implicit in Dr. Eastman’s argument is the assumption that 15 because the numerous people with whom he shared this “work product” were 16 likeminded, sharing this material widely would not break work product protection.

17 Importantly for this case, voluntary disclosure waives protection of the work 18 product doctrine “when such disclosure is made to an adversary or is otherwise 19 inconsistent with the purpose of work-product doctrine—to protect the adversarial
20 process.” Sanmina Corp., 968 F.3d at 1120. “[D]isclosing work product to a third party 21 may waive the protection where ‘such disclosure, under the circumstances, is inconsistent 22 with the maintenance of secrecy from the disclosing party’s adversary.’” Id. at 1121 23 (quoting Rockwell Int’l Corp. v. U.S. Dep’t of Just., 235 F.3d 598, 605 (D.C. Cir. 2001)).
24
25

26 ⁶⁴ Dr. Eastman states, “[s]ome are specially marked ‘Attorney Work Product privilege’ in 27 the subject line.” Br. at 24. Because Dr. Eastman did not provide subject lines of the 28 documents on his privilege logs, Dr. Eastman made it difficult for Congressional Defendants to determine the validity of his privilege claims.

1 “Under this standard, the voluntary disclosure of attorney work product to an adversary 2 or a conduit to an adversary waives work-product protection for that material.” Id.

3 The “maintenance of secrecy” standard involves “two discrete inquiries in 4 assessing whether disclosure constitutes waiver.” Sanmina Corp., 968 F.3d at 1121 5 (quoting United States v. Deloitte LLP, 610 F.3d 129, 141 (D.C. Cir. 2010)). First, 6 “whether the disclosing party has engaged in self-interested selective disclosure by 7 revealing its work product to some adversaries but not to others. If so, [s]uch conduct 8 militates in favor of waiver” as a matter of basic fairness. Id. (internal quotation marks 9 and citation omitted). Second, “whether the disclosing party had a reasonable basis for 10 believing that the recipient would keep the disclosed material confidential.” Id.

11 A party waives work product privilege if he or she discloses work product to a 12 third party such that disclosure “has substantially increased the opportunities for potential 13 adversaries to obtain the information.” Sanmina Corp., 968 F.3d at 1121 (quoting 8 14 Charles Alan Wright & Arthur R. Miller, Federal Practice & Procedure § 2024 (3d ed.
15 2020)). Waiver involves a “fact-intensive analysis” which “requires a consideration of 16 the totality of the circumstances and is ultimately guided by the same principle of 17 fundamental fairness that underlies much of our common law doctrine on waiver by 18 implication.” Id. at 1122.

19 Dr. Eastman shared these materials so widely that it substantially increased the 20 opportunities for potential adversaries to obtain the information. He also engaged in 21 selective disclosures that shared these documents so widely that he did not have a 22 reasonable basis for believing the material would be kept confidential.

23 1. Dr. Eastman shared these materials widely among state legislators. Doing so 24 “substantially increased the opportunities for potential adversaries to obtain the 25 information.” Sanmina, 968 F.3d at 1121.

26 To the extent Dr. Eastman assumed he could broadly share these materials with 27 likeminded individuals (who preferred a second Trump term to a Biden victory), that 28 assumption does not overcome waiver. Elected officials swear an oath to preserve the

1 Constitution (see U.S. Const., Art. VI, cl. 3), and Dr. Eastman’s presumption that anyone
2 who preferred a second Trump term would be likeminded enough to attempt to change
3 their state’s electors is obviously not well-founded. Georgia’s Secretary of State Brad 4 Raffensperger provides a perfect example. He stated publicly that he would have 5 preferred that Trump win the 2020 election, but he was unwilling to go along with a 6 scheme to undermine the results of the election in his State.⁶⁵ Elected officials in states 7 won by President Biden are thus potential adversaries on the issue of alternative slates of 8 electors.

9 2. Dr. Eastman also used this material to pressure the Vice President. Sharing 10 work product with the Vice President and his team also “substantially increased the 11 opportunities for potential adversaries to obtain the information.” Sanmina, 968 F.3d at 12 1121. The Vice President and his staff were in fact adversaries on whether the Vice 13 President had unilateral power to simply declare the election in favor of the former 14 President or, at the very least, postpone the vote. Neither former President Trump nor 15 Dr. Eastman had “a reasonable basis for believing that [the Vice President or his team] 16 would keep the [materials about the alternate elector plan] confidential.” Id. at 1121. In 17 fact, evidence shows that the Vice President’s team did not keep this material 18 confidential.⁶⁶

19 Dr. Eastman’s narrow reading of adversary or conduit to an adversary makes little 20 sense in the context of the electoral count process. Dr. Eastman’s “plan [was] to proceed 21 without judicial involvement.” ECF 260 at 23. So, to say Dr. Eastman is entitled to 22 share materials broadly under work product protection because material has not been 26 ⁶⁶ See, e.g., The never-before-told backstory of Pence’s Jan. 6 argument, Politico (Feb.

27 18, 2022, 5:00 AM), <https://perma.cc/AQY7-KAXZ> (explaining that Vice President’s 28 outside counsel called a former judge and revealed Dr. Eastman’s plan to disrupt the electoral count).

1 disclosed to an adversary in litigation means little—when there is no litigation, there is 2 no adversary to litigation. In invoking a litigation doctrine (work product protection) in 3 the context of a legislative subpoena, Dr. Eastman cannot now insist that the definition of 4 adversary be confined to a litigation adversary. In the context of a legislative subpoena, 5 therefore, any definition of adversary must be read broadly.

6 3. Finally, the facts of this particular case and basic fairness support waiver.
7 “[U]nder the totality of the circumstances, [Dr. Eastman] acted in such a way that is 8 inconsistent with the maintenance of secrecy” against the Select Committee regarding the 9 contested documents. Sanmina, 968 F.3d at 1124. By sharing with so many people, any 10 work product immunity was waived because Dr. Eastman’s conduct “reached a ‘certain 11 point of disclosure’ towards [likely] adversary[ies] such that ‘fairness requires that his 12 privilege shall cease, whether he intended that result or not.’” Id. at 1122 (quoting Weil, 13 647 F.2d at 24).

14 At the very least, sharing this “work product” so widely constitutes an implied 15 waiver because it is inconsistent with the maintenance of secrecy against an adversary.
16 Sanmina, 968 F.3d at 1123 (“an express waiver generally occurs by disclosure to an 17 adversary, while an implied waiver occurs by disclosure or conduct that is inconsistent 18 with the maintenance of secrecy against an adversary.”). Permitting Dr. Eastman to share 19 his information so widely and then claim work-product privilege enables him to “us[e] 20 the privilege as both a shield and a sword.” Bittaker v. Woodford, 331 F.3d 715, 719 (9th 21 Cir. 2003).

22 C. The Select Committee Has a Substantial Need for the Documents and 23 Cannot Obtain the Substantial Equivalent of the Documents Without 24 Undue Hardship

25 In any event, the Select Committee has a substantial need for the documents and 26 cannot, without undue hardship, obtain their substantial equivalent by other means. See 27 Admiral Ins. Co. v. U.S. Dist. Ct. for Dist. of Ariz., 881 F.2d 1486, 1494 (9th Cir. 1989)
28 (“work-product materials nonetheless may be ordered produced upon an adverse party’s

1 demonstration of substantial need or inability to obtain the equivalent without undue 2 hardship.”). As the Select Committee’s investigation has progressed, the importance of 3 Dr. Eastman’s role has only become more evident.

4 Dr. Eastman played an active role in attempting to convince state legislators in 5 states won by President Biden to reject the election results and “decertify” those electors.
6 When that effort failed, Dr. Eastman played a key role trying to encourage Vice President 7 Pence to either reject the electors from several states or to postpone certification (so that 8 Dr. Eastman, President Trump, and their co-conspirators would have more time to recruit 9 state legislators who would concoct slates of Trump electors). Dr. Eastman’s “strategy, 10 mental impressions and opinion” concerning these efforts “are directly at issue” in the 11 Select Committee’s investigation. Reavis v. Metro. Prop. & Liab. Ins. Co., 117 F.R.D.
12 160, 164 (S.D. Cal. 1987). How his and his associates’ conduct intersected with or 13 evaded our current laws—both civil and criminal—is of great importance to the Select 14 Committee as it develops recommendations.

15 CONCLUSION

16 For the reasons set forth above, Dr. Eastman’s claims of privilege should be 17 rejected, leaving Chapman University free to comply with the House subpoena at issue 18 here as it has stated it wishes to do.
