1 TO THE COURT AND ALL PARTIES AND THEIR COUNSEL OF RECORD:

2 Please be advised that the Declaration of Bevin Kuhn in support of Plaintiff 3 Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority's ("LAHSA's") Application for 4 Preliminary Relief (Docket Entry 24-6) filed on July 3, 2026, inadvertently omitted
5 Exhibit 3 and attached Exhibit 7 twice. LAHSA is now filing an Amended 6 Declaration of Bevin Kuhn with the correct exhibits attached, which should replace 7 Docket Entries 24-6 through 24-16. The Declaration itself did not change.

8 Additionally, LAHSA's Reply in support of Ex Parte Application for 9 Preliminary Relief, Temporary Restraining Order, and Preliminary Injunction, and 10 Motion to Stay Agency Action Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 705 (the "Reply") filed on 11 July 21, 2026 (Docket Entry 35) contained errors in the Table of Contents. LAHSA 12 now files an Amended Reply with a corrected Table of Contents. Additionally, 13 typographical errors of a non-substantive nature were corrected. No substantive 14 changes were made. This document should replace Docket Entry 35. A redline 15 version of the Amended Reply is attached as Exhibit 1.

I. INTRODUCTION

LAHSA's application for preliminary relief (Dkt. 24) demonstrated that the June 11 suspension letter ("June 11 Letter") from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development ("HUD"), and the remedial measures HUD announced in its June 18, 2026 letter ("June 18 Letter"); were based on partisan policy-making, not adequate evidence, and that HUD's actions were final, violated statutes and policies adopted by Congress, and were unconstitutional. Then, on July 16—while HUD was supposed to be negotiating an order "maintaining the status quo with respect to LAHSA's provision of services" (Dkt. 21 at 2)—HUD further proved LAHSA's point, by noticing a new funding application process that would overturn the decades-old Congressionally-mandated Continuum of Care ("CoC") Program by denying the Los Angeles CoC ("LA CoC") its statutory right to submit a regional, consolidated application for HUD funding.

Through the suspension, HUD is attempting to effectuate in 2026 what the Trump Administration has announced that it wishes to do in 2027: eliminate the CoC program in Los Angeles. The July 16 announcement makes clear that HUD intended its actions to be final. Given the express dictates of the Homeless Emergency Assistance and Rapid Transition to Housing ("HEARTH") Act, however, HUD cannot accomplish this objective without violating the statute, the Separation of Powers, the Take Care Clause, and the Tenth Amendment.

In its opposition, HUD sidesteps the purpose of its actions and downplays their effects. HUD traffics in conclusory (and unsupported) allegations, not facts. It fails to identify a single item of adequate evidence—not an agreement, not a certification—that could even potentially support suspension. It fails to refute, or even reference, any of LAHSA's 13 supporting declarations. HUD also does not and cannot explain why it approved new grant awards to LAHSA on May 21, 2026—just twenty-one days before the suspension—and authorized millions in drawdowns on the day of and after the suspension, yet purports that "immediate action is

1 necessary to protect the public interest.” HUD’s opposition makes plain that its 2 actions are not based on a careful evaluation of the evidence and law, but are 3 reverse-engineered to meet policy objectives.

4 Notably, HUD devotes only a page and a half of its 33-page opposition to the 5 issue of irreparable harm. HUD admits that it intends to preclude LAHSA from 6 acting as the LA CoC collaborative applicant, but does not address LAHSA’s 7 Homeless Management Information System (“HMIS”), Coordinated Entry System
8 (“CES”), and Point-in-Time Count (“PIT”) functions. Indeed, HUD does not 9 mention CES or the PIT Count even once in its brief, despite the fact that these are 10 significant, fundamental services on which local, state, and federal authorities all 11 rely. The unrefuted evidence is that no person in Los Angeles County moves from 12 interim to permanent housing without LAHSA’s role as CES coordinator.
13 (Dkt. 24-3 ¶6). HUD also simply ignores the financial paralysis imposed on twelve 14 specific provider organizations presently providing services without funded 15 contracts; the threatened collapse of the nation’s largest HMIS system (Dkt. 24-6 16 ¶14); and the threatened freezing of 25,398 households on the permanent supportive 17 housing waitlist (Id.)

18 A federal agency may exclude persons from covered transactions only to 19 protect the public interest from a present, evidence-based risk. It may not exclude a 20 person for the purposes of punishment. 2 C.F.R. § 180.125. What HUD has done 21 here is use its suspension authority as an instrument of an expressly stated policy to 22 destroy a congressionally mandated program—by punishing the entity most 23 associated with that program. The Court should enjoin it.

24 II. THE SUSPENSION IS FINAL AGENCY ACTION

25 Ignoring the controlling two-part test in Bennett v. Spear, 520 U.S. 154 26 (1997), HUD asserts “an agency action must be considered ‘non-final’ if it is the 27 subject of a pending administrative appeal.” (Dkt. 25 (“Opp.”) at 15). That is not the 28 law and it confuses the status of the pending administrative proceedings. Rather,

1 under Bennett, an agency action is final the moment it consummates the 2 decisionmaking and carries legal consequences.

3 HUD's cited cases are distinguishable. In two of the cases, the agency vacated 4 its own decision, thus rendering it non-final. See Church v. United States, No. CV 5 12-3990 GAF (SSX), 2013 WL 12064271, at *2, 4-6 (C.D. Cal. May 15, 2013) 6 (administrative appeals office sua sponte vacated and reopened its previously final 7 decision in an immigration matter); Crawford-Hall v. United States, 394 F. Supp. 3d
8 1122, 1154 (C.D. Cal. 2019) (after court vacated agency action as ultra vires, it 9 remanded to the agency for a final decision). In the third case, the court merely ruled 10 that "forest-wide monitoring and reporting duties" are not "final agency actions" 11 because they "do not mark the culmination of the agency decisionmaking process, 12 nor do rights or obligations flow from them." Neighbors of Cuddy Mountain v.
13 Alexander, 303 F.3d 1059, 1067 (9th Cir. 2002). In contrast, here, HUD has 14 "formalized its decision[.]" See id. It has not vacated or otherwise rendered its 15 suspension decision inoperative. HUD recently put an exclamation mark on the 16 finality by issuing a July 16 Notice of Funding Opportunity ("NOFO") notice, 17 proving it intends to permit eligible entities to apply directly to HUD and bypass 18 LAHSA. (See Declaration of Jessica Reed, filed herewith ("Reed Reply Decl.") 19 ¶¶ 12-13). HUD's latest action further confirms that the consequences of the 20 suspension are not hypothetical, tentative or preliminary. HUD is restructuring the 21 competition on the premise that LAHSA has been removed. An action that is 22 already reshaping a live funding competition is not premature.

23 LAHSA has requested an administrative hearing, but there is no pending 24 administrative appeal. In any event, an otherwise-final action remains final despite 25 an "appeal to superior agency authority" unless a rule both makes the appeal 26 mandatory and renders "the action meanwhile . . . inoperative." 5 U.S.C. § 704.
27 LAHSA's response under 2 C.F.R. Part 180 is neither required, nor has HUD 28 rendered the suspension inoperative.

2 III. LAHSA IS LIKELY TO SUCCEED ON THE MERITS

3 A. HUD Fails to Show a Need For “Immediate Action”

4 HUD has not adequately explained why “immediate action [in the form of a 5 suspension] is necessary to protect the public interest.” See 2 C.F.R. § 180.700(c).
6 Given HUD’s role in administering the CoC program, it surely is not too much to 7 ask it “reasonably consider” how a suspension of LAHSA will affect the provision 8 of homelessness services in the LA CoC before it implements such a suspension.
9 See Fed. Commc’ns Comm’n v. Prometheus Radio Project, 592 U.S. 414, 423
10 (2021). Contrary to HUD’s assertions, it did not do so.

11 HUD cites to a couple of stray statements in its June 11 Letter that describe 12 the scope of the homelessness problem and identify LAHSA as the second largest 13 direct recipient of HUD CoC funds in the nation. (See Opp. at 28.) Critically, there 14 is no analysis or reasoning anywhere in the June 11 Letter as to how LAHSA’s 15 suspension might affect the continuity of homelessness services in the region.
16 Indeed, the June 11 Letter utterly ignores the central programmatic roles that 17 LAHSA performs for the region as HMIS Lead, CES Coordinator, and PIT Count 18 Administrator. Even though the June 11 Letter does not identify any actual federal 19 funds that were or are being mismanaged by LAHSA, HUD claims it took “action in 20 part because of its fear that ‘diverting dollars from worthy programs to LAHSA 21 merely makes the homeless crisis worse.’” (Id.) It is evident that the 22 Administration’s policy goal is to divert funds away from the CoC program entirely, 23 or at least away from Los Angeles. Given HUD’s professed concern that Los 24 Angeles “is the epicenter of the homelessness crisis in America” (id. at 30), it strains 25 reason to conclude that an immediate suspension of LAHSA in the middle of an 26 application process is necessary to protect the public interest. The June 11 Letter 27 does not once consider how a suspension could disturb the infrastructure for the 28 provision of homelessness services.

Moreover, HUD did fail to consider less drastic alternatives. In the ordinary course, HUD raises concerns in performance reviews and follows a process set forth in its own regulations before taking remedial actions or imposing sanctions. See 24 C.F.R. § 578.107. The purpose of such remedial actions is to “prevent a continuation of the deficiency; to mitigate, to the extent possible, its adverse effects or consequences; and to prevent its recurrence.” Id. § 578.107(b). For this reason, HUD has a range of tailored remedies available to address specific concerns. See id. HUD did not do this. It arbitrarily and capriciously issued an across-the-board suspension of LAHSA without undertaking the appropriate process, and failed to give a reasoned explanation for its decision.

B. LAHSA’s Suspension Is Not Supported By Adequate Evidence

1. HUD Misapprehends the Evidentiary Standard and the Evidence Required To Meet It

As an initial matter, HUD understates its evidentiary burden. HUD contends it “has significant regulatory leeway” in ordering suspension, calling it a “temporary and preliminary” agency action. (Opp. at 2.) Federal agencies, however, may not impose suspension with superficial factfinding and unfettered discretion. Sloan v. Dep’t of Hous. & Urb. Dev., 231 F.3d 10, 17 (D.C. Cir. 2000) (“disqualification from government contracting is a very serious matter”); see also Jenner & Block LLP v. U.S. Dep’t of Just., 784 F. Supp. 3d 76, 108 (D.D.C. 2025) (holding that “an agency may not impose even a temporary suspension without providing the ‘core requirements’ of due process: adequate notice and a meaningful hearing.”)

Moreover, there are several problems with HUD’s claim that the suspension is just a preliminary measure pending an ongoing investigation. (Opp. at 17.)

First, HUD’s actions are not temporary. (See supra at III(A).) The June 18 “remedial action letter” (Opp. at 15) includes determinations that LAHSA “is no longer eligible to serve as a collaborative applicant for the Los Angeles CoC, or apply for [FY 2026] funding” (Dkt. 24-23), and does not make LAHSA’s eligibility

1 contingent on the results of a HUD-OIG investigation. That HUD intended its 2 remedial measure to be immediate and final is confirmed by the July 16 NOFO 3 notice, which begins the process (to be completed within 7 days) of permitting 4 individual entities within the LA CoC to apply directly for CoC grants, bypassing
5 the LA CoC entirely. (Reed Reply Decl. ¶ 13, Ex. 4.)

6 Second, contrary to ~~HUC's~~ HUD's claims, neither HUD's suspension nor its 7 remedial action was ever tied to an ongoing investigation. HUD's Associate General 8 Counsel Dane Narode's declaration puts the lie to this claim, stating that, on May 9 29, 2026, HUD-OIG commenced an investigation of LAHSA based on a referral
10 from HUD itself. (Dkt. 25-1 ¶ 4.) In other words, HUD asked its OIG to investigate 11 LAHSA, and then waited less than two weeks to suspend it. HUD's sidelining of 12 LAHSA has nothing to do with pending investigations and nonfinal factfinding—
13 HUD has decided to effect the administration's agenda with respect to LAHSA 14 irrespective of the evidence adduced in any investigation, or any response or rebuttal 15 by LAHSA.

16 Third, HUD tries to suggest that the “adequate evidence” standard can be 17 met based on the types of uncorroborated information sufficient to “open[] an 18 investigation.” (Opp. at 15.) This is insufficient. While this “adequate evidence” 19 ~~encompasses~~ standard may not be co-extensive with ~~the~~ the Federal Rules of 20 Evidence, the evidence “must be more than uncorroborated suspicion or 21 accusations,” Horne Bros., Inc. v. Laird, 463 F.2d 1268, 1271 (D.C. Cir. 1972), and 22 a suspending official must consider the evidence's credibility. 2 C.F.R. § 23 180.705(a). News articles and uncorroborated allegations in public sources do not 24 meet the test. Cf. 2 C.F.R.
25 § 180.705(b)(1)-(2) (types of evidence for consideration include “[a]n indictment, 26 criminal information, conviction, civil judgment” or “other official findings by 27 Federal, State, or local bodies that determine factual or legal matters”). Contrary to 28 HUD's claim, the factual threshold for opening an investigation is not the same as

1 the threshold for the much more serious and consequential step of suspension. See In 2 the Matter of: Env't Affs. & Mgmt., Inc., SBA No. MSB-621, at *13 (Feb. 8, 1999)
3 (“Though suspicion may warrant investigation, it does not warrant suspension.”).

4 Finally, and as discussed further ~~below~~^{above}, HUD does not demonstrate that 5 it has considered, as required, whether suspension is “necessary to protect the public 6 interest” under 2 CFR 180.700(c). HUD advances the circular claim that it is 7 necessary to protect the public interest where a contractor is not responsible. (Opp.
8 at 33). But, as discussed further below, the analysis of whether LAHSA has “present 9 responsibility” includes an analysis of mitigating factors, notwithstanding a history 10 of misconduct or other issues. 2 CFR § 180.125(b) and (c); Sloan, 231 F.3d at 14; 11 Silverman v. U.S. Dept. of Defense, 817 F. Supp. 846, 849 (S.D. Cal. 1993) 12 (requiring the agency to consider “favorable evidence of responsibility and “ensure 13 that all findings” “are based on the presence of a realistic and articulable threat of 14 harm to the government’s proprietary interest”; “government contractors must be 15 afforded a meaningful ‘opportunity to overcome a blemished past,’ to ensure that an 16 agency ‘will impose debarment only in order to protect the government’s 17 proprietary interest and not for the purpose of punishment.”²².”) (citation omitted).

18 2. HUD Lacks Adequate Evidence to Support a Suspension

19 As to the merits, HUD fails to contend with the fact that suspension should 20 not be based on stale information. See Sloan, 231 F.3d at 17. The longer HUD waits 21 to take action, the less it can rely on the exigency of suspension. 2 C.F.R. § 180.700.
22 HUD cannot credibly maintain that immediate action was necessary on June 11, 23 2026, based on a historical record it had known for years, and after approving 24 LAHSA as a grantee just three weeks earlier. HUD notes that similar issues were 25 advanced by the L.A. Alliance in a May 8, 2025 motion for receivership, and in this 26 Court’s June 25, 2025 order. (Alliance Litigation Dkt. 899, 991.) HUD never 27 explains why it did not commence an investigation then; yet it purports that its 28 recently-opened investigation compels “immediate action” now. See Inchcape

1 Shipping Servs. Holdings Ltd. v. United States, 2014 WL 12838793, at *2 (Fed. Cl.
2 Jan. 2, 2014) (government waited over a year after audit results to suspend 3 contractor, casting “serious doubt on [its] claim that immediate action was 4 necessary”).

5 Moreover, HUD’s claim that immediate action is needed is belied by the fact 6 that it has awarded LAHSA multiple grants on an annual basis for years, and made 7 an award as recently as May 21, 2026. (Reed Reply Decl. ¶ 3.) By regulation, at the 8 time of the May award, HUD was required to evaluate LAHSA’s “performance in 9 previous years against the plans and goals established” in its application,” and 10 evaluate factors such as a “history of inadequate financial management accounting 11 practices,” and “indications of mismanagement on the part of the recipient.” 24 12 CFR § 583.235\(c\)\(1\). (See Reed Reply Decl. ¶ 2.) Having just approved multiple 13 awards to LAHSA under this standard, HUD simply cannot justify a suspension 14 now. Lion Raisins, Inc. v. United States, 51 Fed.Cl. 238, 249 (2001) (where USDA 15 continued to awards contracts during period of misconduct, USDA “acted arbitrarily 16 and capriciously by deeming plaintiff both responsible and non-responsible for the 17 same time period and based on the same evidence”).

18 HUD improperly diminishes the importance of LAHSA’s remedial efforts 19 (Opp. at 22), which also bear on LAHSA’s present responsibility. HUD asserts that 20 “whether LAHSA is a “responsible person” is a matter for the ongoing investigation 21 to determine” (Opp. at 22), but that would be too late. HUD must assess present 22 responsibility before suspension, 2 CFR § 180.125\(b\), and cannot wait until its 23 vaguely-described investigation is complete.

24 Overall, HUD gives short shrift to the fact that LAHSA has made significant 25 and comprehensive improvements over at least the last ten years, such that old 26 audits are not reflective of its current state. HUD never addresses LAHSA’s 27 leadership changes, strengthened audit and risk structure, and reforms to data 28

1 governance, financial oversight, provider monitoring, and housing-matching 2 operations. (See, e.g., Dkt. 24-21 ¶¶ 8-12 and Dkt. 24-66 ¶ 42.)

3 3. HUD Has No Evidence of False Certifications

4 HUD's allegation that it has adequate evidence of LAHSA making false 5 statements or certifications to HUD is wholly unsupported. HUD points to pages 11-6 12 of its letter (Dkt. 24-24 at 2) which sets out various certifications LAHSA 7 routinely makes in the consolidated application. But HUD fails to point to a single 8 specific LAHSA statement—including date, recipient, or content—and ~~links~~fails to 9 link it up with any evidence the statement was false. HUD cannot meet its due 10 process obligations by merely handwaving at years of certifications without 11 specifying, by date and medium, what statements it alleges, and how it alleges them, 12 to be false. Further, the general certifications HUD cites are, for the most part, 13 prospective and made subject to the “best knowledge of the signatory.” (Id. at 11).
14 There is simply zero evidence that any LAHSA official ever made a certification 15 that was not true and accurate to the best of their knowledge at the time. At best, the 16 June 11 Letter disputes the adequacy of LAHSA's policies and controls—not 17 whether LAHSA misrepresented that the policies and controls were in place.

18 4. HUD's Conflict of Interest Claims Are Unfounded

19 HUD's repeated assertions that it has found reason to believe that LAHSA 20 has been operating with undisclosed conflicts of interest (see Opp. at 1, 2, 8) only 21 demonstrates the lack of evidence it possesses and its own lack of credibility.
22 Simply put, the conflict of interest claims are false and HUD knows it.

23 In its opposition, HUD states that, in October 2024, LAHSA “authorized its 24 then-[Chief Executive Officer (“CEO”)] to contract with her husband's employer to 25 provide services for over $2 million.” (~~Id.~~Id.) HUD knows that LAHSA did no such 26 thing; rather, LAHSA started working with Upward Bound House (“UBH”) long 27 before Dr. Adams Kellum became LAHSA's CEO; Dr. Adams Kellum recused
28 herself, on the public record, from dealings with UBH; LAHSA's total

Formatted: Font: Italic

1 disbursements to UBH did not increase after Dr. Adams Kellum became CEO; 2 pursuant to LAHSA's conflict of interest policy, LAHSA's Commission approved
3 further work with UBH without Dr. Adams Kellum's involvement or presence (due 4 to her recusal); and Dr. Adams Kellum's staff inadvertently applied her signature to 5 documents through Adobe (that is, she did not execute any documents relating to 6 UBH). (See Dkt. 24-36 ¶¶ 11, 23; Dkt. 24-44; Dkt. 24-55.) HUD accepted the facts 7 that LAHSA documented through its internal investigation and closed out its 8 investigation; HUD cannot ground its suspension on factual inferences that it well 9 knows to be false.

10 HUD points to no new issues arising since its closeout to justify further 11 suspicion or investigation of LAHSA's conflict of interest policies or practices.
12 HUD ominously suggests other conflict of interest issues exist (Opp. at 19 ("HUD's 13 ongoing investigation has revealed additional potential conflicts of interest that 14 LAHSA had not disclosed")), but fails to identify any.¹ There can be no "adequate 15 evidence" where HUD cannot even identify any supposed "additional potential 16 conflicts of interests" with specificity, much less any false statements or 17 certifications referencing them. HUD's statutory and due process obligations 18 demand much more than a vague, unsupported allegation.

19 5. HUD Cannot Connect LAHSA's Practices Regarding 20 State and Local Funds to its Federal Requirements

21 HUD glosses over the fact that, because state and local reimbursement 22 structures are very different from federal ones, findings and allegations related to 23 LAHSA's administration of state and local funds simply do not translate to how it 24 administers HUD funds. The June 11 Letter repeatedly emphasizes LAHSA's ability 25

26 ¹ HUD cannot controvert that LAHSA has not only implemented a new policy, but 27 given it effect. (Pelham Decl. ¶ 29.) LAHSA's conflict waiver exemption request 28 refutes the suggestion that it presently allows Commissioners with potential conflicts to recuse without requesting a HUD waiver. (Cf. June 11 Letter at 10.)

1 to reimburse providers from state and local funds. (See Dkt. 24-17 ¶¶ 23-28; see 2 also Axel Reply Decl., Ex. 1 ¶¶ 18-29). However, there are differences in how these 3 programs are administered, particularly in the speed with which HUD, the State of 4 California, and the City and County of Los Angeles reimburse service providers 5 through LAHSA. As a result, historical criticisms of LAHSA's administration of 6 state and local funds are not necessarily relevant to its administration of CoC funds.
7 HUD, however, states that these differences are for an investigation to sort out.
8 (Opp. at 20 ("whether there are meaningful differences between LAHSA's HUD-9 assisted payment processes and its other payment processes, . . . are exactly the 10 kinds of issues HUD needs to investigate and weigh")). As noted above, because it 11 has already taken the serious step of suspending LAHSA, HUD cannot defer such 12 important analysis until after its investigation.

13 The federal drawdown process is "significantly more timely than many local 14 reimbursement processes." (Axel Reply Decl., Ex. 1 ¶ 19.) With state- and locally-15 funded programs, the provider incurs and records the expense; submits it to 16 LAHSA; LAHSA records the expense; LAHSA submits a reimbursement request to 17 the state or local funder; and then LAHSA must wait for the funder to review and 18 pay that request. (Id.) The invoice appears as an accounts payable on LAHSA's 19 balance sheet. By contrast, for CoC funds, LAHSA "draws funds directly from 20 HUD's . . . system and those funds are generally deposited within three business 21 days." (Id. at 20.) To pretend these two payment processes are the same, when HUD 22 allows a drawdown directly from a funded account, but the local requires the 23 reimbursement request to be reviewed and then funds to be sent to LAHSA, is 24 absurd.

25 HUD erroneously asserts that the State has provided LAHSA sufficient "cash 26 on hand" to cover reimbursements, suggesting that there is no external delay for 27 such funds. (Opp. at 20-21). LAHSA does not have sufficient funds from State 28 sources to "pre-pay" service providers before the reimbursement process. LAHSA's

1 annual budget exceeds $900 million. (Dkt. 24-17 ¶ 13.) For LAHSA's fiscal year
2 2025-2026 budget, only 9% of that came from federal sources. (Axel Reply Decl., 3 Ex. 3 (June 18, 2026 LAHSA Budget Update).) And 9% of it comes from State 4 sources, which have their own reimbursement model, including "cash on hand" as 5 the government notes. (Dkt. 24-32 at 53.) LAHSA does not have the remaining 82%
6 of over $900 million on hand. For the vast majority of the remaining funds, LAHSA 7 is required to follow the specific payment processes for local funders outlined 8 above.

9 Finally, HUD need not look to LAHSA's processing of state funds as a proxy
10 for its federal reimbursement speed; the Single Audit evaluates LAHSA's 11 management of federal funds annually, and there was no issue identified. (Dkt. 24-12 26 (June 11 ~~Leter~~Letter, Ex. 9 (FY2025 Single Audit).)

13 6. HUD's Claims Regarding the 2022 HUD OIG Audit and the 14 2025-2026 Single Audit Are Misleading and Wrong

15 As to the 2022 HUD OIG Audit: (1) HUD complains that LAHSA failed to 16 spend $3.5 million in CoC funds in 2022, but omits that HUD accepted LAHSA's 17 corrective actions and formally closed out this finding over a year ago. (Axel Reply 18 Decl., Ex. 4 ¶ 11, 21, Ex. 5.); (2) As to HMIS, contrary to HUD's insinuation, there 19 was no finding related to a problematic failure of HMIS; rather, the audit "identified 20 documentation deficiencies related to certain salary and rental costs associated with 21 HMIS and Planning grants" (Axel Reply Decl., Ex. 4 ¶ 20) and LAHSA has since 22 provided additional documentation (Axel Reply Decl., Ex. 4 ¶ 11, Ex. 5.); (3) 23 Similarly, HUD brings up a failure "to provide supporting documentation for over 24 $870,000 in payroll and rent costs" (Opp. at 21), but this too is a documentation 25 question rather than an indication of misuse in funds. (Axel Reply Decl., Ex. 4 ¶ 11, 26 Ex. 5); (4) HUD notes the audit's finding that "LAHSA failed to submit timely 27 performance reports" (Opp. 21), but timeliness "is not defined by the Uniform 28 Guidance" (Axel Reply Decl., Ex. 1 ¶ 6), and therefore does not amount to a

1 deviation from an established or required internal control. In any event, as discussed 2 above, an audit that occurred in 2022 is stale.

3 As to the 2025-2026 Single Audit, HUD stoops to pulling a phrase out of its 4 sentence, claiming that the auditor found “internal controls over financial reporting 5 were not adequately designed or implemented” (Opp. 21) but the rest of the sentence 6 (and page) makes clear this relates only to the “timely identification and correcting 7 of accounting matters or timely preparation and provision of information necessary 8 for financial reporting and audit purposes. (June 11 Letter, Ex. 9 p. 50). This finding 9 led to an audit recommendation concerning enhancing LAHSA’s financial closing 10 process to support more timely financial reporting. (Id.)

11 HUD also omits that the Single Audit—which represents the most 12 comprehensive and independent evaluation of LAHSA’s compliance with major 13 federal program requirements and its performance in its role as CoC Lead 14 Applicant, HMIS Lead, and CoC coordinator—did not “identify any instance where 15 LAHSA failed to comply with federal laws or contractual obligations.” (Axel Reply 16 Decl., Ex. 1 ¶ 40). It concluded that LAHSA’s financial statements “presented fairly 17 in all material respects, the respective financial position of the governmental 18 activities and the major fund of” LAHSA. (Id. at 1; C. Dkt. 24-66 ¶ 11).

19 C. HUD Lacks Authority To Disqualify LAHSA As the Collaborative
20 Applicant for the LA CoC

21 Even assuming this Court does not set aside LAHSA’s entire suspension as 22 arbitrary and capricious (which it should), HUD’s prescribed remedial actions 23 should be enjoined as unlawful. HUD cites no caselaw to support its claim that it 24 can use the suspension and debarment system to disqualify LAHSA from serving as 25 the collaborative applicant or from performing its programmatic duties under the 26 HEARTH Act. Nor can it. The actions taken by HUD in its June 18 Letter are 27 extraordinary, unprecedented, in excess of its authority, and are contrary to law.

28 1. HUD Has Not Made the Required Findings or Followed the Applicable Suspension Process Under the HEARTH Act

Formatted: Font: Italic

1 In an attempt to claim remedial authority to disqualify LAHSA as 2 collaborative applicant and to suspend its programmatic functions, HUD collapses 3 two distinct and separate statutory and regulatory frameworks. Relying on the 4 suspension and debarment system in 2 C.F.R. part 180, HUD first argues that it “has 5 same tools as any agency” to suspend federal partners from participating in 6 government programs. (Opp. at 9.) It then argues that LAHSA’s suspension “should 7 naturally mean that the CoC can no longer fulfill its responsibilities” such that it 8 may exercise its remedial authority under the HEARTH Act, 24 C.F.R. § 578.13(a).
9 (Id. at 15.) It cites no authority for that proposition. Where two different statutory or 10 regulatory frameworks interact, courts seek to harmonize them “to give effect to 11 each if we can do so while preserving their sense and purpose.” Chevron U.S.A., 12 Inc. v. Hammond, 726 F.2d 483, 490 n. 8 (9th Cir. 1984) (quoting Watt v. Alaska, 13 451 U.S. 259, 267 (1981)). “[A] regulation does not trump an otherwise applicable 14 statute unless the regulation’s enabling statute so provides.” United States v. Maes, 15 546 F.3d 1066, 1068 (9th Cir. 2008).

16 HUD admits, as it must, that its remedial authority is conditioned on a finding 17 that a CoC does not meet the “requirements” of the HEARTH Act or there is no 18 CoC for a geographic area. (Opp. at 33.) See 42 U.S.C. § 11360a(c); 24 C.F.R.
19 § 578.13(a). The “requirements” of the HEARTH Act, as applied to the CoC 20 program are found in 42 U.S.C. §§ 11360a(f), 42 U.S.C. §§ 11381-11389, and the 21 Act’s implementing regulations, 24 C.F.R. Part 578, which translate its requirements
22 into specific operational duties for a CoC. See 24 C.F.R. §§ 578.5, 578.7, 578.9 23 (describing duties such as CoC operation, maintaining a Governance Charter, 24 monitoring reports of recipients, designing the collaborative application process, and 25 establishing funding priorities.)

26 HUD has failed to identify any specific “requirements” of the statute or 27 regulations that LAHSA or the LA CoC do not meet, or have failed to execute. That 28 should end the matter. HUD’s remedial authority under 24 C.F.R. 578.13 is

1 designed to ensure that CoCs comply with the requirements or standards for, inter 2 alia, coordinated planning, funding allocation, and service delivery targeted at 3 addressing homelessness within specified geographic areas. See 42 U.S.C. § 11386a;
4 24 C.F.R. §§ 578.7\(c\), 578.9, 578.53. HUD can take remedial action only if a CoC 5 fails to meet these benchmarks, thereby protecting equitable and effective 6 distribution of grant funds. See 24 C.F.R. § 578.13\(a\).

7 The suspension and debarment system in 2 C.F.R. part 180 is not 8 “requirements of the Act or its implementing regulations” within the meaning of 24 9 C.F.R. § 578.13, but represents standards set forth by the Office of Budget and 10 Management (“OMB”) and which apply to federal contract administration generally.
11 These OMB administrative and financial management standards may “apply to 12 recipients and subrecipients” of federal homelessness grants, “except where 13 inconsistent with the provisions of the [HEARTH] Act or this part.” See 24 C.F.R. § 14 578.99\(e\); In re Padilla, 222 F.3d at 1192 (9th Cir. 2000). Thus, if there is a conflict 15 between the OMB standards and the HEARTH Act, the HEARTH Act and its 16 implementing regulations control.

17 HUD must follow the more specific remedial procedures in the HEARTH Act 18 before suspending LAHSA. The specific regulations for the HEARTH Act direct 19 HUD to undertake a performance review process before taking remedial actions. See 20 24 C.F.R. § 578.107. Upon the conclusion of this process, the available remedial 21 actions may include, inter alia, “suspending disbursement of grant funds[.]” Id.
22 § 578.107\(b\)\(1\)\(v\). HUD has not followed that process here. It should not be 23 permitted to circumvent the specific procedures set forth in the HEARTH Act by 24 falling back on the more general system for suspension and debarment.

25 The suspension and debarment system was not designed to address the 26 situation presented here. By its terms, the legal effect of a suspension or debarment 27 is limited to excluding a specific person’s involvement in “covered transactions.” 2 28 C.F.R. § 180.130. This regulation is not so capacious as to permit an official to 1 suspend a collaborative applicant from applying for federal funding on behalf of an 2 entire region under the HEARTH Act. Nor does it authorize an official to suspend a 3 collaborative applicant from acting as HMIS Lead or performing other 4 programmatic functions. HUD does not cite a single prior instance where it has ever 5 used the suspension tool to disqualify a collaborative applicant or an entire CoC as it 6 has done here. It is inconsistent with the HEARTH Act for a suspension under 2 7 C.F.R. part 180 to be used as a means to disqualify a collaborative applicant acting 8 on behalf of a region, especially where HUD has not followed the applicable 9 remedial procedures for grant administration under its own regulations for the 10 HEARTH Act. See 24 C.F.R. § 578.107.

11 Rather than engage in reasoned decisionmaking as required by the APA, 12 HUD simply recites that LAHSA is suspended and treats that fact as sufficient to 13 disqualify LAHSA and the entire LA CoC. (June 18 Letter at 1 (“[b]ecause LAHSA
14 may not participate in federal programs, it may not act on behalf of the Los Angeles 15 CoC”). HUD cites no legal authority or prior historical practice for this proposition 16 but relies on its own ipse dixit. (Opp. at 15 (arguing that suspension “should 17 naturally mean that the CoC can no longer fulfill its responsibilities”). HUD’s 18 reasoning does not withstand scrutiny under the arbitrary-and-capricious standard.

19 2. HUD Is Statutorily Obligated to Fund FY ‘25 Awards

20 HUD concedes LAHSA’s suspension “does not terminate grant agreements 21 that HUD and LAHSA have already executed or curtail LAHSA’s use of funds that 22 it has already been granted.” (Opp. at 33.) Instead, HUD threatens not to fund FY 23 ‘25 grants that—based on a Congressionally-set timelines—HUD already awarded 24 and was required to fund. HUD’s actions are not a permissible exercise of 25 administrative discretion, but represent defiance of a non-discretionary statutory 26 mandate.

27 While HUD sought to upend Congressional priorities through the FY ‘25
28 NOFO, Congress and the courts intervened, enjoining the FY ‘25 NOFO and setting

1 deadlines by which HUD had to renew FY '24 grants for FY '25. (See Dkt. 24 at 2 26.) As to LAHSA's grants, HUD met these deadlines, renewing all of LAHSA's 3 2024 subgrantees (Dkt. 24-62 ¶¶ 50-52), including LAHSA itself, as recently as 4 May 21, 2026. (Reed Reply Decl. ¶ 3.) In issuing these award letters, HUD had to 5 evaluate and determine the eligibility of the grantee, LAHSA, as well as its 6 subgrantees, before approving their awards. 42 U.S.C. § 11382\(d\)\(1\); 24 CFR § 7 583.235\(c\).

8 After the awards were approved by HUD, the HEARTH Act required that the 9 funds be obligated—i.e., legally committed with grant agreements—within 45
10 days. 42 U.S.C. § 11382\(d\)\(2\); 24 CFR § 583.410.² But LAHSA has not received 11 signed grant agreements for 49 already-awarded grants and, in every case, they are 12 now overdue. (Dkt. 24-62 ¶¶ 50-53, 57; see also, Reed Reply Decl. ¶ 3.) HUD is 13 customarily dilatory in executing grant agreements, often leaving grantees and 14 subgrantees to fund their own operations for months with no path to reimbursement.
15 (Dkt. 24-62 ¶¶ 50.) Here, however, HUD seeks to take advantage of its sloppy 16 practices to deny funding altogether for award recipients including LAHSA, House 17 of Ruth, and Penny Lane, among others, who have already provided, and are 18 continuing to provide, services under the awards. (Dkt. 24-2 ¶¶ 4-10; Dkt. 24-1 ¶¶ 19 4-5). HUD cannot now use the suspension system to excuse its failure to comply 20 with the statutorily mandated timeline.

21 HUD's attempt to distinguish funding under signed and unsigned grant 22 awards fails, and undermines HUD's claim that LAHSA is an untrustworthy 23 recipient and administrator of HUD funding. Given the grant cycle, LAHSA has at 24 least six months (and in some cases longer) to administrate HUD funding under

25 _____
26 ² The grant agreement is a formal post-award step by which a grantee agrees to 27 provide services and HUD commits the funds, which are then available to draw 28 down within HUD's eLOCCs system. See 24 CFR § 583.400. (See also Axel Reply Decl., Ex. 1 ¶ 20).

1 already-signed grants. This represents millions of dollars in federal monies. (Reed 2 Reply Decl. ¶ 7.) Were LAHSA the irresponsible actor HUD contends, surely it 3 would cut off LAHSA's access to such monies. But HUD has not disturbed 4 LAHSA's access to the FY '24 and already-executed FY '25 grants, likely because 5 it knows it cannot meet the legal standard to de-obligate the funds under 24 C.F.R.
6 578.107. In any event, the distinction is necessarily arbitrary and capricious, in that, 7 in either event, LAHSA is legally entitled to the obligation of funds.

8 HUD's reliance on 42 U.S.C. § 11386(b)(8) is unexplained, and fails. (See 9 Opp. at 26.) Section 11386(b) merely includes a list of assurances that a 10 collaborative applicant must provide to HUD. See 42 U.S.C. § 11386(b)(8) (catch-11 all requiring applicant to "comply with such other terms and conditions as the 12 Secretary may establish"). HUD never claims that LAHSA's suspension, or the 13 remedial actions HUD has taken, are based on its Section 11386(b)(8) authority.

14 Because the suspension authority does not authorize HUD to contravene its 15 existing funding obligations under the Act, HUD is acting contrary to law.³

16 3. HUD's FY '26 NOFO Notice Is Contrary to Law and 17 Not Practically Feasible

18 HUD's recent attempt to rewrite the NOFO process for Los Angeles County 19 based on its suspension of the LA CoC's collaborative applicant also contravenes 20 the HEARTH Act, which requires regions to submit one coordinated application.
21 While 24 C.F.R. Section 578.13(a)(3) permits HUD to allow a specific entity to 22 apply directly for funding as a remedial measure, that remedy is rooted in the 23 ³ Although HUD asserts in passing that contract claims belong in the Federal Court 24 of Claims under the Tucker Act, it does not contend that this Court lacks jurisdiction 25 to decide this dispute. (See Opp. at 34.) It clearly does. LAHSA's claims arise under 26 the APA and the U.S. Constitution and it seeks injunctive and declaratory relief, 27 which are within the purview of this Court. See Pacito v. Trump, 169 F.4th 895, 925 28 (2026). Moreover, whether HUD is obligated to execute a grant agreement under the HEARTH Act is a separate question than whether HUD has breached a contract or has a contractual payment obligation under an existing agreement.

1 existing regulatory scheme. Under 24 C.F.R. § 578.35\(b\), solo applicants who 2 appeal the CoC determinations of eligible applicants are allowed to apply for 3 funding outside of the CoC process as a remedy when the CoC has “denied” 4 individual applicants “the right to participate” in the CoC “in a reasonable manner.”
5 24 C.F.R. § 578.35\(b\)\(1\). But that provision assumes the “solo applicant” continues
6 to operate within the CoC system. Here on the other hand, HUD is effectively 7 removing the entire LA CoC from the CoC program without any legal authority.

8 HUD’s remedial choice is unprecedented because it applies to all applicants 9 within the CoC, not just those selective applicants who allege their preclusion from 10 the CoC application process. HUD’s expansion of the remedial action to take 11 individual applications would serve to effectively disband the entire LA CoC. This 12 runs contrary to the entire statutory and regulatory framework of the CoC Program, 13 and the Congressional mandates behind the appropriation of CoC funds. As with the 14 suspension of LAHSA, there is no factual record or findings to support the 15 imposition of such a sweeping and broad remedial action.

16 D. HUD Likely Is in Violation of the U.S. Constitution

17 Although this Court does not need to reach the constitutional claims if it finds 18 that LAHSA has a likelihood of success under the APA, it also should find that 19 LAHSA is likely to succeed on its constitutional claims. HUD gives short shrift to 20 these claims and does not engage with LAHSA’s cited authority, failing to address a 21 single Ninth Circuit case (and only one Supreme Court case).

22 As to the separation of powers violation, HUD offers only the abstract claim 23 that the “case law ‘does not support the proposition that every action’ by an agency 24 ‘in excess of [its] statutory authority is ipso facto in violation of the constitution 25 (Opp. at 29-30, citing Dalton v. Specter, 511 U.S. 462 (1994)). But LAHSA did not 26 ground its constitutional claims solely in HUD’s (numerous) statutory and 27 regulatory violations. Nor did the Supreme Court preclude a theory that “action in 28 excess of statutory authority” “rise[s] to a constitutional claim.” Sierra Club v.

1 Trump, 929 F.3d 670, 696 (9th Cir. 2019) (“Statutory and constitutional claims are 2 not mutually exclusive.”); Cnty. of Santa Clara v. Noem, 815 F. Supp. 3d 979, 1025, 3 1043 (N.D. Cal. 2025) (granting preliminary injunction where county government 4 had shown likelihood of success on constitutional claims); see also City of Chicago
5 v. United States Dep’t of Homeland Sec., 815 F. Supp. 3d 727, 750 (N.D. Ill. 2025)
6 (“[I]t cannot be right . . . that as long as an official identifies some statutory 7 authorization for his actions, doing so . . . precludes constitutional review.”).⁴

8 LAHSA’s argument, which HUD never addresses, is that HUD has violated
9 the separation of powers and the Take Care clause by seeking to eliminate the CoC 10 program generally, and the LA CoC specifically. In a different part of its brief, HUD 11 claims that LAHSA’s policy-based claims are unsupported and hyperbolic (Opp. at 12 27), a claim it can make only by ignoring LAHSA’s evidence, including: (1) the 13 Administration’s 2027 budget, which seeks to eliminate what it calls the “failed and 14 harmful” CoC program (RJN Ex. L at 30-31), and takes shots at LAHSA in 15 particular (id.); (2) a HUD official’s comment that it would recommend that no 16 HUD funding to Los Angeles (Dkt. 24-37-~~7~~), and (3) Secretary Turner’s wholly-17 false public claims that HUD had performed an investigation and found “waste, 18 fraud and abuse” (Id. ¶ 3).⁵ HUD has only further proven its intent to overstep

19
20
21 ⁴ Global Health Council v. Trump, 153 F.4th 1, 15 & n. 11 (D.C. Cir. 2025) is out of 22 circuit and inapposite. There, a divided panel ruled that foreign aid grantees could 23 not bring a constitutional claim for Presidential impoundment of foreign aid where 24 judicial review of statutory claims was unavailable under the APA. See id. at 14.
25 That is not the case here: Because LAHSA’s statutory claims are reviewable under 26 the APA, its constitutional claims are not an end-run around statutory limits.

26 ⁵ HUD’s sole supporting declaration only further proves that no HUD investigative 27 findings supported the suspension: HUD claims an OIG investigation was opened 28 only on May 29, 2026—less than two weeks before the June 11 Letter—and that was done only “based on a referral from HUD.” (Dkt. 25-1 ¶¶ 6-7.)

1 Congress through its July 16 announcement of the new NOFO that expressly 2 precludes the LA CoC from submitting a collaborative application.

3 Under these circumstances, LAHSA has shown a likelihood of success on its 4 constitutional claims. Murphy Co. v. Biden, 65 F.4th 1122, 1130 (9th Cir. 2023) 5 (“[A] challenge to presidential action will be considered constitutional, and 6 therefore justiciable . . . , so long as a plaintiff claims that the President has 7 ‘violat[ed] . . . constitutional separation of powers principles’ because the 8 President’s action lacked both ‘statutory authority’ and ‘background constitutional 9 authority.’” 929 F.3d 670, 696–97 (9th Cir. 2019) (quoting Sierra Club, 929 F.3d at 10 889-90)); see also City & Cnty. of San Francisco v. Trump, 816 F. Supp. 3d 1017, 11 1036 (N.D. Cal. 2026).

12 That test is met here. LAHSA’s constitutional claims are independently based 13 on violations of background constitutional principles, including the Appropriations 14 Clause, the Take Care Clause, Separation of Powers, and the Tenth Amendment.
15 Moreover, unlike the base closure statute at issue in Dalton, 511 U.S. at 464, none
16 of the statutes or regulations at issue assigns any role to the President or imbue HUD 17 with unfettered or unreviewable discretion over federal homelessness assistance.

18 HUD also erects a straw-man arguing that the Tenth Amendment does not 19 “require[] the Federal Government to fund Californian homelessness programs, or to 20 fund them on LAHSA’s terms.” (Opp. at 35.) This misstates LAHSA’s position.
21 LAHSA’s Tenth Amendment claim arises from HUD’s interference with LAHSA’s 22 performance of its various programmatic functions such as HMIS Lead and CES 23 Coordinator. (Dkt. 1 ¶ 150.) It also arises from HUD’s interference with the LA
24 CoC’s choice of LAHSA as its collaborative applicant. (Id. ¶ 151.) HUD 25 acknowledges that “[c]aring for the homeless is an archetypal ‘police power.’” 26 (Opp. at 35.) Yet it largely ignores the wide-ranging effect of its actions on the 27 ability of state and local governments to address the problem of homelessness.
28 HUD’s opposition brief barely mentions LAHSA’s role as HMIS Lead and never

1 once mentions its roles as CES Coordinator or PIT Account Administrator. The 2 HEARTH Act was designed to support community-driven strategies to end 3 homelessness. HUD may not usurp the efforts of local or state governments to 4 provides homelessness services pursuant to state and local law.

5 IV. LAHSA WILL SUFFER IRREPARABLE HARM ABSENT RELIEF

6 HUD's irreparable-harm rebuttal largely rests on the premise that LAHSA's 7 harm runs to others, not to itself. But LAHSA has shown direct harms to itself. HUD 8 concedes that "absent an injunction, LAHSA will remain suspended from its role as 9 Collaborative Applicant for the LA CoC during the ongoing investigation[.]" (Opp.
10 at 36.) While LAHSA may continue to draw down on federal funds tied to existing 11 grant agreements, HUD has immediately suspended its participation in future 12 transactions with the federal government. (Id.) These are direct irreparable harms.

13 A preliminary injunction is the only way to ensure that LAHSA will be able 14 to perform its statutory designated role as collaborative applicant for the upcoming 15 FY '26 NOFO deadline on February 26, 2026. No later ruling can restore it to a 16 competition it was excluded from; the harm cannot be undone.

17 LAHSA also has suffered direct harm to itself and its subgrantees from 18 HUD's failure to execute pending grant agreements. HUD tries to avoid an 19 irreparable harm finding on this point by claiming it has not yet decided "what 20 action, if any, it will take" regarding these already-awarded funds. (Opp. at 36-37.)
21 But HUD cannot avoid harm by sticking its head in the sand—every day that HUD 22 avoids a decision leaves LAHSA and its subgrantees unpaid. LAHSA and its 23 subgrantees rely in significant part on federal funding to finance their work. (See 24 Reed Reply Decl. ¶¶ 5-9). Without an injunction, LAHSA will lose the ability to 25 fund nearly 60 employees. (Id. ¶ 10).

26 HUD's cited cases do not preclude this Court from considering harms to 27 LAHSA's organizational interests and its mission. In Nat'l Wildlife Fed'n v. Nat'l 28 Marine Fisheries Serv., 886 F.3d 803, 822 (9th Cir. 2018), the Ninth Circuit held

1 that a plaintiff can meet the irreparable harm requirement by taking into 2 consideration the harm to the local environment where the plaintiff has his own 3 interest in the environment. It reasoned the plaintiff had connected “his recreational 4 and aesthetic pursuits on Idaho’s rivers” to anticipated injuries to local species. *Id.*⁶ 5 As a joint powers agency, LAHSA has a direct and compelling interest in the 6 provision of homelessness services in the LA CoC. Indeed, the very reason that 7 LAHSA was formed was to coordinate and facilitate the delivery of homelessness 8 services throughout the region, by executing the functions delegated to it. See 9 Oakley v. Devos, No. 20-CV-03215-YGR, 2020 WL 3268661, at *17 (N.D. Cal.
10 June 17, 2020) (injuries to sovereign interests and public policies may constitute 11 irreparable harm). Further, “[d]eprivation of constitutional rights unquestionably 12 constitutes irreparable injury.” Valle del Sol Inc. v. Whiting, 732 F.3d 1006, 1029 13 (9th Cir. 2013).

14 Here, the mere fact that HUD recently opened up a pathway for solo 15 applicants in the LA CoC to apply directly to HUD does nothing to address the 16 irreparable harm to LAHSA. HUD has not explained how it will evaluate solo 17 applications, rank or prioritize projects, or balance community needs without a 18 consolidated application prepared at the local CoC level as contemplated by the 19 HEARTH Act. Inevitably, this solo application process will mean that HUD 20 officials will prioritize the Administration’s own preferred policy goals or interests 21 (such as faith based housing and a shift away from permanent housing to transitional 22 housing) over choices of the local community that LAHSA was formed to serve.

23 V. THE PUBLIC INTEREST STRONGLY FAVORS AN INJUNCTION

24
25 ⁶ HUD’s remaining cases are inapposite in that the record supports non-speculative 26 harm both to LAHSA and third parties. Cf. Immigrant Legal Res. Ctr. v. City of 27 McFarland, 827 F. App’x 749, 751-52 (9th Cir. 2020) (only demonstrated harm was 28 to third party detainees); Caribbean Marine Services Co. v. Baldrige, 844 F.2d 668, 674-75 (9th Cir. 1988) (harm found too speculative).

1 When balancing the equities, this Court should give great weight to the 2 interests of the public in the provision of homelessness services.

3 HUD's assertion that it or third parties can "step in" to perform LAHSA's 4 functions is an ambitious claim lacking evidentiary support. It is not supported by a 5 single declaration, a single operational plan, a single identification of a person or 6 entity to perform these functions, or a single description of how HUD proposes to 7 replicate the 39-person PSH Matching Team (Dkt. 24-3 ¶10), the 400-agency HMIS 8 network, or the years of institutional relationships that constitute LAHSA's CES 9 operation. LAHSA demonstrated in its moving papers that preparing the 10 Consolidated Application requires months of advance work, including coordination 11 among 140-plus providers, community prioritization decisions, Tier 1/Tier 2 12 ranking, narrative development, data compilation, and electronic submission. (Dkt.
13 24-62 ¶¶ 16-42.) None of this can be reasonably replicated by any other entity 14 within the five weeks that remain before the deadline. HUD's assertion to the 15 contrary without any evidentiary support carries no weight under Winter's 16 requirement that the balance of harms be assessed on actual evidence. See Winter v.
17 Nat'l Res. Defense Council, 555 U.S. 7, 20 (2008); Earth Island Inst. v. Muldoon, 82 18 F.4th 624, 636 (9th Cir. 2023). The government's speculation that harm can be 19 avoided does not constitute evidence that harm will be avoided. A transition of the 20 nation's largest CoC's collaborative applicant, HMIS lead, and CES operator 21 functions to a new entity would require months of planning, coordination, data 22 transfer, and relationship-building. (See Dkt. 24-16 ¶14; see generally Dkt. 24-3).
23 There are not months available before the August 26 NOFO deadline. The transition 24 argument is therefore not an answer to irreparable harm—it is evidence of 25 irreparable harm: the very scale of what would need to be transferred demonstrates 26 why any interruption is catastrophic and irreversible on the relevant timeline.

27 HUD's hollow assurances that LAHSA's "suspension does not require any 28 significant change to the amount of HUD funding" and "adjustments would not

1 necessarily reduce the amount of funds” to Los Angeles do not provide comfort.
2 (Opp. at 38.) HUD has assiduously avoided making any representations that it will 3 maintain continuity of federal funding. The abrupt suspension creates chaos in the 4 middle of the application process for the FY ’26 NOFO and threatens the $241
5 million earmarked for the LA CoC. (Dkt. 24 at 46-48; Dkt. 24-6 ¶ 14a; Dkt. 24-21 6 ¶ 6; Dkt. 24-65 ¶ 6.) The risk of irreparable harm to the public is too great to not 7 issue a preliminary injunction.

8 HUD’s interest in preventing “wanton mismanagement of public funds” 9 (Opp. at 36) does not outweigh LAHSA or the public’s interest in continuity of 10 homelessness services. HUD has not submitted any actual evidence to substantiate 11 its claims of harm. It has made no effort to identify any federal funds that are or 12 have been mismanaged by LAHSA. The only declaration submitted by HUD 13 confirms that, between June 11 and June 29, 2026, HUD authorized LAHSA to 14 draw over $4.5 million from existing grant funds—without identifying any 15 impropriety in any of those 47 draws. (See Dkt. 25-1, ¶ 19.) In the absence of any 16 actual evidence of harm to the federal government, HUD’s hypothetical interests in 17 preventing waste, fraud and abuse do not weigh heavily.

18 Finally, the equities are not served by deferring judicial review until 19 LAHSA’s administrative challenge to its suspension is resolved. That guarantees 20 that LAHSA will not serve as the collaborative applicant for the FY ’26 NOFO, it 21 jeopardizes federal funding for the entire LA CoC, and almost certainly will mean 22 that some individual service providers fall through the administrative cracks and are 23 forced to cease their operations. Without the ability to draw down federal funds to 24 support ongoing operations in real time, LAHSA’s operations would be negatively 25 impacted and it would be forced to lay off employees and cease providing services.

26 VI. CONCLUSION

27 For the foregoing reasons, LAHSA respectfully requests that the Court grant a 28 preliminary injunction in its favor or enter an administrative stay of HUD’s actions.
